[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Chicago, June 22.—With the adoption of the platform and the settlement of the factional disputes that have bobbed up recently, nothing remains for the Republican national convention but the formality of nominating the candidates. This will be done tomorrow and the convention will then adjourn. The smoothness and harmony that have characterized this meeting from the beginning will continue to the end according to the present indications.

Roosevelt and Fairbanks will be the ticket and the nomination of the latter will be as devoid of incident as the naming of the former. Hitt of Illinois, in a telegram to Senator Cullom this morning, withdrew from the vice presidential race and it is believed that the other aspirants for second place will follow suit, leaving a clear field for Fairbanks.

This was really the first day of the convention, yesterday's session having been devoted entirely to preliminaries. More enthusiasm and interest was apparent and the Coliseum was filled, which means a vast assembly. When "Uncle Joe" Cannon of Illinois, was escorted to the stage and took the gavel as the permanent chairman of the convention there was an outburst of applause that testified to the high esteem in which this picturesque figure in national affairs is held.

Cannon Caught the Crowd.

And Cannon caught the crowd from the start when he announced that he had written a 2,500 word speech but had neglected to memorize it. They cheered him as in his forceful language and with his unique gestures he emphasized the points that he brought to the attention of the convention.

But the greatest demonstration of the day came when Senator Lodge, chairman of the committee on resolutions, read the platform. From the cheers and waving hats and flags that greeted this important document it was evident that it met the ideas of the delegates assembled. It is a "stand-pat" convention and to have attempted to force upon it a platform that could be construed as a departure in any degree from the well-known principles of protection would have evoked the greatest storm of protest.

Prominent leaders of the party who had been spoken to on this subject during the days preceding the assembling of the convention, had in no uncertain terms declared in favor of a reaffirmation of the old policy of protection upon which the party has waged so many successful battles. They wanted no "Iowa ideas" no Hansbrough ideas of promising changes in the near future, that could be either construed as a sign of weakening or an attempt at false pretenses. They wanted protection, the good old-fashioned McKinley article, and they got it.

No Doubt About Its Meaning.

It is a platform that leaves no doubt in the mind of him who reads it, for it declares that the policy of protection is still the cardinal principle of the Republican party. But it gives the lie to those critics who have declared that the party worships the schedules in the present law as a fetisch, for it promises that when the time comes that conditions demand a readjustment of the rates they will be changed. Such revision as this would have had the unqualified approval of McKinley and Blaine and Hanna.

Even with all the harmony that is so strongly objected to by those who would like to see some excitement the convention developed a little fight this afternoon that added interest to the occasion. It came with the report of the committee on rules and order of business, which was submitted by Gen. H. H. Bingham of Philadelphia. This report gave the territories of Arizona, New Mexico, Indian territory and Oklahoma each six delegates, six to Alaska, two each to the District of Columbia, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippine islands.

To this provision Senator Foraker of Ohio offered an amendment providing for

Chairman of National Convention Creates Laughter and Enthusiasm.

GLORIES OF REPUBLICANISM

By L. W. STRAYER.
(Staff Correspondent.)
[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Chicago, June 22.—Speaker Joseph G. Cannon took the gavel as permanent chairman of the Republican national convention today and made a characteristic speech. His inimitable style of argument at times convulsed the convention with laughter, while his serious and forceful attacks on Democratic fallacies and his recital of Republican party achievements gave rise to much enthusiasm. Speaker Cannon spoke as follows:

Gentlemen of the Convention:—For the first time in my life I put in black and white enough sentences to contain 2,500 words to say to you. I have tried to memorize it (laughter) but I cannot. I have given it out through the usual channels to the great audience and now I must either beg to be excused entirely or I must do like we do down in the house of representatives under the five-minute rule, and make a few feeble remarks. But that no man shall say that I have not made a great speech I will set this matter at rest by saying that from beginning to end I heartily indorse every statement of fact and every sentiment that was given you yesterday from the temporary presiding officer in the greatest speech ever delivered at a convention. (Applause.)

Now let me go on and ramble. (Laughter.) And first they say there is no enthusiasm in this convention. Gentlemen, the great river that has 30 feet of water, rising in the mountains and growing in depth and breadth down to the ocean, bears upon its bosom the commerce of that section of land that it drains, and bears it out to the world. It is a silent river, and yet the brawling river that is like to the river Platte out in Nebraska (that is 14 miles wide and four inches deep) makes more noise than the bigger river. (Applause.)

When we were young folks 20 years ago (laughter) we went to see our best girls. We were awfully enthusiastic if she would give us a nod of the head, or the trip-away-catch-me-if-you-can (laughter) to enter upon the chase, that was awfully strenuous and awfully enthusiastic. (laughter.) But, when she said "Yes," then good relations were established, and we went on evenly throughout the balance of our lives. (Laughter and applause).

Were There for Business.

It is a contest that makes enthusiasm. In 1904, as in 1900, everybody has known for 12 months past who is to be our standard bearer in this campaign. (Loud applause and cheering.) We are here for business. (Laughter.) I wonder if our friends, the enemy, would not be glad of a little of our kind of enthusiasm. (Prolonged laughter and applause).

I might illustrate further; I don't know that it is necessary. I see some of our former friends before me—my colleague, Col. Lowden and various others. (Applause).

Now, there is not one of you that raises chickens as I do, but what understands that, when the hen comes off the nest with one chicken, she does more scratching and makes more noise than the motherly hen that is fortunate with 23. (Laughter.) Our friends the enemy will have the enthusiasm; we will take the votes in November. (Applause).

To be serious for a moment. The Republican party is a government through party and through organization—oh, you find people once

POLITICAL POINTERS FROM MR. CANNON

It is a contest that makes enthusiasm. In 1904, as in 1900, everybody has known for 12 months past who is to be our standard bearer.

Our friend the enemy will have the enthusiasm; we will take the votes in November.

One-third of all the world's products that come from the factory are made in the United States by the operation and co-operation of American capital and American labor and skill.

It is not a few rich men that make markets.

The Republican party does what common sense dictates and the country grows to it.

In the fullness of time that territory (the Philippines) will be useful to the United States, whereas in the meantime, we will be like a benediction to them.

It is a record (Roosevelt's) that will stand in the future second only to the records made by George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

That young, enthusiastic, true man took an oath to see to it that the laws were executed and he has executed them. In his opinion trusts are unlawful and should be dissolved. That is the difference between the Democrats and Roosevelt. One bursts by mind and the other bursts by law.

If some man conceives the idea that he can corner the air and the water and the sunlight, he will find 80,000,000 of people who make our civilization that will not only make a law and put it into force, but, of competition and enterprise, will prove the admitted declarations of the enemy to be a falsehood.

Outrageous things are done by the employer when he oppresses labor, and outrageous things are done by some laborers when they are on strike.

Each question marks its own solution and marches forth to success and to the betterment of mankind.

Little politicians din the air crying, "Trusts! trusts! trusts!" There is no Jericho now. That people would march about the walls blowing rams' horns seven times, until the walls fell down. That is what the Democrats are trying to do.

FORAKER GIVEN SMALL COMFORT AT CHICAGO

Ohio Senator's Friends Blame Dick, Who Says He Isn't Responsible.

By WALTER J. CHRISTY.
(Staff Correspondent.)
[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, ILL., June 22.—The Ohio contests were all decided against the followers of Senator Forsker. His friends blame Senator Dick as he was the Ohio member of the committee on credentials. Mr. Dick says that he is not responsible, as he told the members of the committee that he wanted them to pass on the contests entirely on their merits. According to his story he did not take any part in the discussion or the decision.

In the convention today, on the fight on the Hawaii delegation, Senator Foraker succeeded in getting 44 of the 46 delegates from Ohio to vote with him to give the island six votes. The two men to vote against his proposition were Gov. Herrick and Harry M. Daugherty. They insist that no political significance attaches to their votes. At the same time it is known that neither of them have any use, politically, for Foraker.

The prominence given Foraker in the convention is not pleasing to the old Hanna guard. When the Ohio Republican convention was held, the Herrick men seriously considered an attempt to prevent the senator coming as a delegate-at-large from the state. He was chosen, however, and during the convention has rather overshadowed the crowd that is fighting him at home.

The Herrick-Dick-Cox faction held a conference today to discuss plans for the fall campaign. It was decided to postpone action until after the national Democratic convention. The Ohio Republicans are hopeful that the Democrats will nominate a radical for the presidency, as it will make the Republican victory this fall easy.

Texas Is for Parker.

SAN ANTONIO, June 22.—The Democratic state convention today indorsed the presidential candidacy of Judge Parker of New York. Senators Bailey and Culberson and Judge John H. Reagan are three of the delegates-at-large to the St. Louis convention.

President Roosevelt Asks Atchison Official a Second Time to Accept Place.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 22.—President Roosevelt desires to make these changes in his cabinet:

Paul Morton of Illinois to be secretary of commerce and labor.

Representatives Victor H. Metcalfe of California to be secretary of the navy.

That Secretary Moody is to succeed Attorney General Knox has already been announced.

Mr. Morton, who is second vice president of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad, is now on his way to Washington to answer President Roosevelt's second invitation within a week to enter the cabinet. At luncheon in the White House last Thursday, the president offered him the navy portfolio, Mr. Morton declined, saying he knew nothing about the navy.

Since then Representative Metcalfe, formerly slated to succeed George B. Cortelyou as secretary of commerce and labor, said he would like to be secretary of the navy.

SEATTLE, WASH., June 22.—The steamer Oregon reached port today from the Nome gold fields, bringing four passengers and more than $400,000 in bullion consigned to local banks. When the Oregon sailed the steamship Portland had not been sighted and it was the general opinion in Nome that the vessel had been carried into the Arctic ocean by the heavy ice floe.

Vermont Men for Parker.

BURLINGTON, VT., June 22.—The Democrats of Vermont at their state convention today decided to instruct the delegates to the national convention to vote for the nomination of Judge Parker. The delegates were instructed to act as a unit on all questions but were not bound outright to vote for the New York man.

"Pennsylvania Idea" Prevailed in the Tariff Plank Adopted at Chicago.

VICTORY FOR GEN. BINGHAM

By CHESTER D. POTTER.
(Staff Correspondent.)
[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Chicago, June 22.—Pennsylvanians were interested in the introduction and adoption in this afternoon's session of the convention of a resolution authorizing the Republican national committee to fill vacancies that may occur in that body. In the canvass in opposition to the election of Cortelyou to the chairmanship of the national committee, one of the arguments advanced against the president's choice for the chairmanship was that after the national election was over, the national chairman would still have great powers, among them the right to fill vacancies in the national committee. With the withdrawal of opposition to Cortelyou it was suggested that power to fill vacancies be taken from the chairman.

After the action of the convention on this subject, The Gazette correspondent interviewed National Chairman H. C. Payne.

"The resolution just adopted by the convention empowering the national committee to fill vacancies in that body was presented in accordance with the usual custom," said Mr. Payne. "There was never any specific authority for a chairman of the Republican national committee to fill a vacancy in the national committee arising from the death or the resignation of a representative from any state or territory. It is true that I recently appointed Senator Penrose to succeed the late Senator Quay as the national committeeman from Pennsylvania, but there was no authority for my action."

Penrose Well Pleased.

"Pennsylvania Republicans have cause to be delighted with the platform adopted by the national convention," said Senator Penrose this evening. "The tariff plank will be entirely acceptable to the Republicans of the Keystone State, as it emphasizes what has come to be known as the "Pennsylvania idea" of a protective tariff. There will be no backward step taken by the Republican party in the coming campaign on the question of protection to American industries. Pennsylvania's great manufacturing interests have been fostered and developed and protected by the Republican party, and the action of today's convention insures a continuance of a policy which has meant so much to the nation's prosperity, and especially to Pennsylvania.

"The Pennsylvania delegates were naturally elated over Gen. Bingham's suc-

CHICAGO, June 22.—The one contest in the convention today was occasioned by a Pennsylvanian. Congressman H. H. Bingham of Philadelphia was chairman of the committee on rules and the fight came over his report. Senator Joseph B. Foraker of Ohio tried to force a change, and in the battle which followed the Keystone state man won a victory. Gen. Bingham was willing to allow Hawaii to retain her six seats in the convention, but insisted that the voting power of the district be limited to two votes. The fight was close, the Pennsylvania winning by the narrow margin of 7 in a total of 987 votes. The 68 votes from Pennsylvania were swung in behind Gen. Bingham. When a roll call was demanded Senator Penrose announced that Pennsylvania seconded the motion for the calling of the yeas and nays. Later he voted the state as a unit for the Bingham proposition.

Gen. Bingham, who is the father of the national house of representatives, is being generally complimented tonight for the gallant fight he made. It furnished a chance for fireworks, which had not been anticipated by the convention. The large audience seemed to take a keen delight in the scrap, for so far the sessions had been without special interest.

Delegates Still Angry.

No changes were made in the seating arrangements of the Pennsylvania delegation and the delegates are still angry. It was impossible for them to see or hear much of the proceedings. After the platform had been read the delegates had little idea of what it contained and it was not until they had perused the evening papers that they had any idea of the party utterances.

Pennsylvania was eager to wind up the business of the convention today and adjourn. The New York delegation also wanted to bring the meeting to an end. For a time this morning it looked as though the plan would go through. National Chairman Payne, Speaker Cannon, Senator Foraker and some others were opposed to cutting out the Thursday session. They were afraid to have the question brought to a vote, however. To prevent it several schemes were worked.

The fight on the report of the committee on rules, forced by Foraker, is believed to have been a part of the pro-

TARIFF POLICY OUTLINED BY REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

Protection which guards and develops our industries is a cardinal policy of the Republican party.

The measure of protection should always at least equal the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad.

We insist upon the maintainence of the principles of protection, and, therefore, rates of duty should be readjusted only when conditions have so changed that the public interest demands their alteration, but this work cannot safely be committed to any other hands than those of the Republican party.

To intrust it to the Democratic party is to invite disaster.

Whether, as in 1892, the Democratic party declares the protective tariff unconstitutional, or whether it demands tariff reform or tariff revision, its real object is always the destruction of the protective system. However spacious the name, the purpose is ever the same.

A Democratic tariff has always been followed by business adversity; a Republican tariff by business prosperity. To a Republican congress and a Republican president this great question can be safely entrusted.

When the only free trade country among the nations agitates a return to protection, the chief protective country should not falter in maintaining it.

We have extended widely our foreign markets, and we believe in the adoption of all practicable methods for their further extension, including commercial reciprocity wherever reciprocal arrangements can be effected consistent with the principles of protection, and without injury to American agricultural, American labor or American industry.

RUSSIANS LOSE 5,168 MEN

A Two Days' Battle Rumored to Have Occured at Hai-Cheng.

TROOPS GO SOUTH

Kuropatkin Hurrying Reinforcements to Army Pitted Against Kuroki and Oku.

AMERICAN ATTACHE KILLED

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

St. Petersburg, June 22.—In a heavy two days' battle at Hai-Cheng, it is rumored, the Russians lost 168 officers and 5,000 men.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

St. Petersburg, June 22.—The imminence of a battle in the northern part of the Liao-Tung peninsula is admitted by the war office and is indicated in today's dispatches.

The week of skirmishing around Siuyen retarded Gen. Kuroki's operations, permitting Gen. Stakelberg to reach Kaiping, the rear guard slowly falling back on Senuchen before the Japanese advance. Meanwhile large forces are hurrying south from Liao-Yang to check both Gen. Oku and Gen. Kuroki.

It is believed here that Gen. Kuropatkin's object is to prevent a juncture of the Japanese armies. On the other hand, the aim of the Japanese apparently is to drive the Russians out of the Liao-Tung peninsula preparatory to a march on Liao-Yang. The approach of the rainy season will more than likely precipitate matters.

Nothing is known officially of the reported occupation of Hsi Ung Yao by the Japanese. If the report should be correct it agrees substantially with the Japanese plan of advance as it is understood here but it indicates that the Japanese outposts are further forward than Russian advices indicate.

Rear Guard at Seu-Chen.

The Russian rear guard is now at Seu-Chen. General Kuroki's advance along the roads from Siuyen, leading respectively to Hai-Cheng, Ta-Che-Chou and Kai-Chou, is being warmly contested by Gen. Kuropatkin's outposts. The column heading for Kai-Chou is the furthest advanced but is still 30 miles distant. A serious collision is regarded at the war office as unlikely for some days. Gen. Kuroki's movements betray a tendancy to go south and join Gen. Oku. Kuroki's outposts are fortifying the pass between Saimatsza and Kwan Dian Sian.

The emperor has received the following dispatch from Vice Admiral Skrydloff dated June 21:

"A division of torpedo boats under the command of Captain Venogradsky, aide-de-camp of the grand admiral, which was sent out June 15 on an expedition along the coasts of Japan returned to Vladivostok today. The torpedo boats approached Port Esashi, near Hakodate, but a fog prevented their entrance. Several trading and transport schooners were captured. One schooner was brought to Vladivostok. The majority of the schooners were conveying fish and rice to Sasebo and Shimonoseki."

It is not betraying Vice Admiral Skrydloff's plans to say that important naval developments are imminent in the far east.

The admiralty has no news of the reported loss of two Russian torpedo boat destroyers off Port Arthur. The latest dispatch from Rear Admiral Withoft in command of the naval forces at Port Arthur, dated June 17, reports all well there.

The British ambassador, Sir Charles Hardinge, is not presenting a protest against the seizure of the British collier Allanton by the Russian Vladivostok squadron in view of the Russian declaration that coal is contraband of war and owing to the irregularity of the ship's papers.

MUKDEN, June 22.—Maj. Gen. Pflug, chief of the military staff of Viceroy Alexieff, announces that on July 20 he will suspend the foreign correspondent whose papers have failed to send the viceroy two copies of each issue containing their contributions. The suspension will continue until the copies are received.

Kuropatkin Cheers Troops.

KAI-CHOU, June 22.—Japanese scouts have appeared two miles from Seu-Chen. The main columns of the enemy are three miles in their rear. Gen. Samsonoff with the Russian rear guard is falling back as the Japanese advance.

A number of men missing after the battle of Vafangow have rejoined their regiments. The Russian losses are expected to total 3,500. The troops are in excellent condition in spite of the fearful weather. The roads are ankle deep in mire but the rains are now ceasing.

Gen. Kuropatkin arrived here Monday and inspected General Stakelberg's corps and addressed the troops, saying:

"I shall see you soon again. We must settle with the Japanese promptly. Till then we are not going home."

The general also addressed the regiments which specially distinguished themselves in the recent fighting and presented the St. George's cross to 250 officers and men who were drawn up on the platform of the railroad station and gave the commander-in-chief a hearty sendoff.

The Japanese army base at Siuyen is evidently strongly established along a line from Kai-Chou to Yental.

Rumors of a battle northeast of Kai-Chou are evidently correct.

The Japanese this week advanced to a point 16 miles east of Kai-Chou, but retired. A division of the army under Gen. Oku occupied Hsi Ung Yao yesterday.

Spectators at the battle of Vafangu claim to have seen on one occasion three horsemen appear on a hill, one of whom, according to a Russian officer, resembling either an American or English attache fell from his horse when the Russians fired and was evidently killed.

DELEGATES WILDLY CHEER HAY'S MESSAGE TO MOROCCO

Demand of President Roosevelt for "Perdicaris Alive or Raisuli Dead" Creates Greatest Enthusiasm When Read Before Republican Convention.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, ILL., June 22.—Permanent Chairman Cannon had but a short time before paid a tribute to the courage and sterling qualities of President Roosevelt and the convention had proceeded to its routine business when a bulletin was received in the convention hall that demonstrated to the delegates that they had a man of positive character in the White House.

Under instructions from the chairman the reading clerk stated that in reply to a dispatch from the American admiral at Morocco, stating that the Moroccan government was not doing all it should to rescue Perdicaris from the brigands, Secretary of State Hay had sent the following cablegram to Consul General Gummere:

"We want Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead."

The announcement was received with the wildest enthusiasm by the convention. Members stood upon chairs and cheered, and in every part of the hall there were demonstrations of approval of this demand of the administration. Nothing could have more firmly impressed upon the convention the character of the president than these instructions from his secretary of state, showing the determination of the administration to protect American subjects everywhere.

After the adjournment of the convention men assembled in the corridor and discussed the matter while some thirsty delegates drank to the early decapitation of the dark-skinned brigand.

CUMMINS PLEASED WITH PLATFORM

Says It Comes Nearer Indorsing "Iowa Idea" Than Latest Iowa Resolutions.

PROMISES GREAT MAJORITY

(Staff Correspondent.)
[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 23.—Gov. Cummins of Iowa, the high priest of tariff revision in the Republican party, and the chief promoter of the "Iowa idea," has managed to extract some satisfaction out of the platform adopted by the national committee today. The conservative leaders among the Republicans look upon this platform, which they themselves wrote, as holding out no specific promise to the advocates of the "Iowa idea." Gov. Cummins says the subjects of recent discussion are left open. However, it is well that the Iowa revisionists are satisfied, for Mr. Cummins pledges his state to Roosevelt by 100,000 majority. When asked for his views on the platform, he said:

"As a whole, the platform is admirable. It is as strong and persuasive a statement of the title of the Republican party to the confidence of the people as I have ever heard. With respect to the tariff and reciprocity, it leaves the subjects of recent discussion absolutely open. That is to say, it leaves those who believe in a modification of the tariff schedules at perfect liberty to urge their views; and with respect to reciprocity, it leaves those who favor reciprocity arrangements for the extension of our foreign trade, in either competitive or non-competitive products, free to advocate their opinions. I assume that no Republican or any other sane and loyal American has ever favored a reciprocal arrangement that would injure agriculture, labor or industry. It is, therefore, fair to say, that, as regards the general struggle between the standpatters and the followers of the so-called Iowa idea, the platform is not a defeat for either.

"When, however, the platform just adopted is compared with the one announced a few weeks ago in my own state, it is obvious that we have won a distinct victory. The fight in Iowa covered two points: First, the standpatters refused to recognize the desirability of revision at any time or under any circumstances. The national platform does recognize it. The Iowa platform expressly confined reciprocity to non-competitive tulings; the national platform contains no such restriction. I would have been glad to have seen these disputed questions settled at this time, but as that was impossible, I am glad that the way is still open for their proper settlement in the future.

"The Republicans of the country can all stand comfortably on the platform and can work enthusiastically for the success of the Republican ticket. Iowa will give Roosevelt 100,000 majority and will elect a solid Republican delegation to congress."

gram to secure delay. Chairman Cannon said last night that he would make his address quite brief, but when it came to the delivery an hour and a half was consumed. Early in the session Chairman Penrose polled the delegation and every delegate favored an adjournment today.

Delegates Leaving Chicago.

Some of the delegates left Chicago tonight and more will go home in the morning. Those leaving this evening were: Col. John J. Carter of Titusville, Clark Olds of Erie, P. J. Lynch of Chester, W. W. Greist of Lancaster and State Treasurer William Mathues, who is a delegate from the Delaware-Chester district. County Chairman Ford, Senator Crawford and George A. Chalfant returned to their homes in Allegheny county.

W. W. Griest of Lancaster, who had been agreed upon by the caucus as the honorary vice chairman of the convention for Pennsylvania today decided to allow this honor to be conferred upon Gov. Pennypacker. The announcement was made when the report of the committee on permanent organization was read. The Pennsylvania delegation applauded. When the name of Senator Penrose was announced as the member of the national committee from Pennsylvania, Gov. Pennypacker led the applause and the delegates all followed.

Speaker Cannon has a great many warm friends in Pennsylvania. Every delegate cheered today when the man from Illinois was escorted to the stage to assume the duties of permanent chairman. It would have been a pleasure for the Pennsylvanians to have voted for Cannon for vice president. Delegate Lynch of Chester said that he felt tempted to cast his vote for Cannon, even though the state had instructed for Fairbanks. He has no objection to the Indiana senator, D. L. Gillespie and Col. Church of Pittsburgh were also eager to support the speaker.

R. R. Quay Did Not Arrive.

Richard R. Quay did not come here today to occupy the seat in the convention which would have been filled by his father had his life been spared. A story was sent out from Pittsburgh last night that he was coming, and all the Chicago papers printed it this morning. Dr. J. B. Donaldson of Washington county, one of the regular alternates, received a telegram from Mr. Quay that he had no intention of coming here.

Senator Penrose says that Mr. Quay could not have served for several reasons. The rules provide that the alternates shall succeed the regular delegates. Another barrier is the fact that Mr. Quay is a resident of Allegheny county, and the county is not a part of the Twenty-fourth dinstrict.

Insurance Commissioner Durham did not appear in the convention today. He found it more pleasant to drive through the parks. Senator Vare of Philadelphia was substituted for him. M. C. Watson of Indiana made his first appearance in the convention this morning. Yesterday he accepted an invitation to make a tour through the Chicago tunnel and did not finish the trip in time to get to the session.

Senator Penrose will not return to Philadelphia until some time next week. He is a member of the merchant marine commission. The body has a meeting scheduled for this city and Cleveland. Mr. Penrose will attend both gatherings. Senator Penrose is chairman of the Republican state committee of Pennsylvania and is preparing to start an early campaign. He says that he will have the Philadelphia headquarters open by August, when work will begin for the rolling up of the largest majority in the history of the state.

Within a month a meeting of the state committee will be called. It is necessary to convoke the body to fill the vacancies on the electoral ticket. So far Chairman Penrose has been informed that 10 nominees are not eligible to be voted for. They are all connected with national banking institutions and do not want to sever their connection with them. Frank Graff of Armstrong county, the elector nominee for the Twenty-seventh district, is among the number. The others are in the eastern end of the state.

PUT LIMIT ON THE CHAIRMAN

cessful fight in the convention against the proposition to make a permanent increase in the representation from Hawaii from two to six votes. This whole issue of representation in Republican national conventions will have to be met squarely sooner or later, and there is no question that those who have the interests of the party at heart will urge that a more equitable scheme of representation than that at present in force shall be adopted.

"We all appreciate the invitation from the state of Indiana to have Pennsylvania second the nomination of Senator Fairbanks for the vice presidency. As the executive of our commonwealth and as the first on the list of the delegates-at-large of our state, Gov. Pennypacker was naturally asked to speak for our delegation. We are more than pleased that he has consented to represent us in a seconding speech tomorrow."

The Fairbanks men of Indiana have expressed thmselves as under many obligations to Senator Penrose and his colleagues in the convention from the Keystone state. They serenaded the Pennsylvania headquarters today and Congressman Hemingway called on Gov. Pennypacker and thanked him for agreeing to make a speech in favor of Fairbanks.

Gen. H. H. Bingham's victory in the national convention today over Senator Foraker of Ohio, Gov. Carter of Hawaii and other advocates of increased representation to the territories was a source of keen satisfaction to the Pennsylvania delegates. With the adherence by the committee on resolutions to the Pennsylvania idea on the tariff in the platform and the fact that Gov. Pennypacker is to second the nomination of Fairbanks for vice president, the delegates from the Keystone state have reason to be elated over the developmnts of the day.

Reasons for Representation.

Gen. Bingham, as the father of the national house of representatives and a member of the committee on rules of many national conventions, was the logical selection for the chairmanship of this committee. Gen. Bingham, in commenting this evening on this issue before the convention said:

"The committee on rules after full consideration determined that Hawaii should continue with such representation as the rules of the convention at Philadelphia in 1900 fixed, two delegates. Alaska has for years in all conventions been accorded first two and then four delegates. She has given to the republic from the riches of her hidden wealth millions upon millions of gold, and contributed largely to the termination of the silver craze of 1896 and 1900. As a recognition of this great contribution the committee lifted her representation from four delegates to six.

"We had no apologies to make for this recognition, and purely in view of the fact that six delegates are accorded to the four large territories now knocking at the doors of congress for statehood as two states, which will be accorded. I have no doubt in the coming session of congress, when these four territories are merged into two states, their representation in convention will doubtless be 12 delegates as states, in lieu of the 24 delegates now alleged as territories. Under the rules submitted by the committee the four territories have 24 delegates, the District of Columbia 2, Hawaii 2, Alaska 6, Porto Rico 2 and the Philippines 2, a sum total of 38 votes in convention in the future.

Generous to Territories.

"Had the proposition of Senator Foraker prevailed it would have lifted this representation to 42 votes as well as given nine members of the national committee to this constituency which has no vote in the presidential election. This would give them the promise in the future to possibly determine the nomination of the Republican candidate for president and vice president as well as a large vote in the national committee on all questions pertaining to the important determination of campaign policies and action.

"You have been most considerate in our courtesy and generous in the votes in the past conventions and should call a halt now instead of enlarging a power already too great. The question of representation in national conventions from the southern states, where the Republican vote has been eliminated by constitutional enactment or Democratic fraud, found a lodgment in a proposition advanced by the late Senator Quay of Pennsylvania when the rules committee report was under consideration: 'The representative of the great states, as well as all the states, should be jealous of their power and not scatter it into the byway that can contribute no fruitful results and make under contingencies determine important conclusions which as political problems may place in jeopardy the vote of the states and the electoral colleges. The time will come in the near future when the rules committee must take up the question of representation in all of its phases and settle a line of conclusion that will be equal and fair to every state interest involved."

Gen. Bingham was congratulated by his fellow delegates when he returned to his seat in the convention after the vote on this amendment. He is tonight one of the most talked about of the delegates in the hotel lobbies.

OTHER STATES FOLLOW WITHDRAWAL OF HITT

However, the Roll Call Must Determine the Attitude on Favorite Sons.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 22.—Entries in the vice presidential race are being scratched with great rapidity since the withdrawal of Representative Hitt was announced today. Colorado, Nebraska, Wisconsin and Missouri have all practically decided not to place their favorite sons in nomination. Positive announcements to this effect, however, have not been made. The course pursued by the delegation of the states is being called for nominations will govern.

The Missouri delegation tonight seems least inclined to abandon their intention to place Mr. Walbridge in nomination. A meeting of the delegation was called for the purpose of caucusing on the question. It was postponed until tomorrow morning and the opinion expressed that no other nomination than Senator Fairbanks would be made. The Wisconsin delegation has come to the same conclusion without a meeting regarding presenting the name of Schofield. However, if Colorado should set the pace by making it a free-for-all event each state will bring forth its aspirant without hesitation.

Secretary Cortelyou arrived in Chicago today and conferred with Republican leaders at the Chicago club. He jocularly announced that he had come to Chicago upon important public business. The new national committee will meet tomorrow immediately after the convention adjourns and Mr. Cortelyou will be elected chairman. He desired to be present to meet with the committee and to confer about the selection of the executive committee, which will have charge of the campaign; also, to discuss the establishment of headquarters in New York and Chicago.

During the evening Mr. Cortelyou visited the hotels and in the lobbies met many Republicans from different states.

Reprieve Secured for Troutwein.

KITTENNING, PA., June 22.—(Special.)—Through the intervention of the German ambassador, August Troutwein, sentenced to death for murdering his wife, has been reprieved by Gov. Pennypacker until July 28. In the meantime the ambassador will make an investigation of the case. Troutwein is a subject of Germany.

All Tried Timber.

Platform Adopted By Republican National Convention

Fifty years ago the Republican party came into existence, dedicated among other purposes to the great task of arresting the extension of human slavery. In 1860 it elected its first president. During 24 of the 44 years which have elapsed since the election of Lincoln, the Republican party has held complete control of the government. For 18 more of the 44 years it has held partial control through the possession of one or two branches of the government, while the Democratic party during the same period has had complete control for only two years. This long tenure of power by the Republican party is not due to chance. It is a demonstration that the Republican party has commanded the confidence of the American people for nearly two generations to a degree never equaled in our history, and has displayed a high capacity for rule and government which has been made even more conspicuous by the incapacity and infirmity of purpose shown by its opponents.

The Republican party entered upon its present period of complete supremacy in 1897. We have every right to congratulate ourselves upon the work since then accomplished, for it has added luster even to the traditions of the party which carried the government through the storms of civil war.

Found Country in Sorry Plight.

We then found the country after four years of Democratic rule in sorry plight, oppressed with misfortune and doubtful of the future. Public credit had been lowered, the revenues were declining, the debt was growing, the administration's attitude toward Spain was feeble and mortifying, the standard of values was threatened and uncertain, labor was unemployed, business was sunk in the depression which had succeeded the panic of 1893, hope was faint and confidence was gone.

We met these unhappy conditions vigorously, effectively and at once.

We replaced a Democratic tariff law based on free trade principles and garnished with sectional protection by a consistent protective tariff, and industry, freed from oppression and stimulated by the encouragement of wise laws has expanded to a degree never before known, has conquered new markets and has created a volume of exports which has surpassed imagination. Under the Dingley tariff labor has been fully employed, wages have risen and all industries have revived and prospered.

We firmly established the gold standard which was then menaced with destruction. Confidence returned to business and with confidence an unexampled prosperity.

For deficient revenues supplemented by improvident issues of bonds we gave the country an income which produced a large surplus and which enabled us only four years after the Spanish war had closed to remove over $100,000,000 of annual war taxes, reduce the public debt, and lower the interest charges of the government.

Restored Nation's Credit.

The public credit, which had been so lowered that in time of peace a Democratic administration made large loans at extravagant rates of interest in order to pay current expenditures, rose under Republican administration to its highest point and enabled us to borrow at 2 per cent, even in time of war.

We refused to palter longer with the miseries of Cuba. We fought a quick and victorious war with Spain. We set Cuba free, governed the island for three years and then gave it to the Cuban people with order restored, with ample revenue, with education and public health established, free from debt and connected by wise provisions for our mutual interest.

We have organized the government of Porto Rico and its people now enjoy peace, freedom, order and prosperity.

In the Philippines we have suppressed insurrection, established order and given to life and property a security never known there before. We have organized civil government, made it effective and strong in administration and have conferred upon the people of those islands the largest civil liberty they have ever enjoyed.

By our possession of the Philippines we were enabled to take prompt and effective action in the relief of the legation at Pekin and a decisive part in preventing the partition and preserving the integrity of China.

The possession of a route for an isthmian canal, so long the dream of American statesmanship, is now an accomplished fact. The great work of connecting the Pacific and Atlantic by a canal is at last begun, and it is due to the Republican party.

Brought Offenders to Justice.

We have passed the laws which will bring the arid lands of the United States within the area of cultivation.

We have reorganized the army and put it in the highest state of efficiency.

We have passed laws for the improvement and support of the militia.

We have pushed forward the building of the navy, the defense and protection of our honor and our interests.

Our administration of the great departments of the government has been honest and efficient and wherever wrongdoing has been discovered the Republican administration has not hesitated to probe the evil and bring offenders to justice without regard to party or political ties.

Laws enacted by the Republican party which the Democratic party failed to enforce and which were intended for the protection of the public against the unjust discrimination or the illegal encroachment of vast aggregations of capital have been fearlessly enforced by a Republican president and new laws insuring reasonable publicity as to the operations of great corporations and providing additional remedies for the prevention of discrimination in freight rates have been passed by a Republican congress.

In this record of achievement during the last eight years may be read the pledges which the Republican party has fulfilled. We promise to continue these policies and we declare our constant adherence to the following principles.

Will Maintain Protection.

Protection which guards and develops our industries is a cardinal policy of the Republican party. The measure of protection should always at least equal the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad. We insist upon the maintenance of the principles of protection, and therefore rates of duty should be readjusted only when conditions have so changed that the public interest demands their alteration, but this work cannot safely be committed to any other hands than those of the Republican party. To intrust it to the Democratic party is to invite disaster. Whether, as in 1892, the Democratic party declares the protective tariff unconstitutional, or whether it demands tariff reform or tariff revision, its real object is always the destruction of the protective system. However specious the name, the purpose is ever the same. A Democratic tariff has always been followed by business adversity; a Republican tariff by business prosperity. To a Republican congress and a Republican president this great question can be safely intrusted. When the only free trade country among the great nations agitates a return to protection the chief protective country should not falter in maintaining it.

We have extended widely our foreign markets, and we believe in the adoption of all practicable methods for their further extension, including commercial reciprocity wherever reciprocal arrangements can be perfected consistent with the principles of protection and without injury to American agriculture, American labor or any American industry.

Favors Merchant Marine.

We believe it to be the duty of the Republican party to uphold the gold standard and the integrity and value of our national currency. The maintenance of the gold standard established by the Republican party cannot safely be committed to the Democratic party, which resisted its adoption and has never given any proof since that time of belief in it or fidelity to it.

While every other industry has prospered under the fostering aid of Republican legislation, American shipping engaged in foreign trade in competition with the low cost of construction, low wages, and heavy subsidies of foreign governments has not for many years received from the government of the United States adequate encouragement of any kind. We, therefore, favor legislation which will encourage and build up the American merchant marine, and we cordially approve the legislation of the last Congress which created the merchant marine commission to investigate and report upon this subject.

A navy powerful enough to defend the United States against any attack, to uphold the Monroe doctrine and watch over our commerce is essential for the safety and the welfare of the American people. To maintain such a navy is the fixed policy of the Republican party.

We cordially approve the attitude of President Roosevelt and congress in regard to the exclusion of Chinese labor and promise a continuance of the Republican policy in that direction.

The civil service law was placed on the statute books by the Republican party, which has always sustained it, and we renew our former declarations that it shall be thoroughly and honestly enforced.

Mindful of Debt to Soldiers.

We are always mindful of the country's debt to the soldiers and sailors of the United States, and we believe in making ample provision for them and in the liberal administration of the pension laws.

We favor the peaceful settlement of international differences by arbitration.

We commend the vigorous efforts made by the administration to protect American citizens in foreign lands and pledge ourselves to insist upon the just and equal protection of all our citizens abroad. It is the unquestioned duty of the government to procure for all our citizens, without distinction, the rights of travel and sojourn in friendly countries and we declare ourselves in favor of all proper efforts tending to that end.

Our great interests and our growing commerce in the orient render the condition of China of high importance to the United States. We cordially commend the policy pursued in that direction by the administrations of President McKinley and President Roosevelt.

We favor such congressional action as shall determine whether by special discriminations the elective franchise in any state has been unconstitutionally limited, and, if such is the case, we demand that representatives in congress and in the electoral colleges shall be proportionately reduced as directed by the Constitution of the United States.

Combinations of capital and of labor are the results of the economic movement of the age, but neither must be permitted to infringe upon the rights and interests of the people. Such combinations when lawfully formed for lawful purposes are alike entitled to the protection of the laws, but both are subject to the laws and neither can be permitted to break them.

Roosevelt's High Ideals.

The great statesman and patriotic American, William McKinley, who was re-elected by the Republican party to the presidency four years ago, was assassinated just at the threshold of his second term. The entire nation mourned his untimely death and did that justice to his great qualities of mind and character which history will confirm and repeat.

The American people were fortunate in his successor, to whom they turned with a trust and confidence which have been fully justified. President Roosevelt brought to the great responsibilities thus sadly forced upon him a clear head, a brave heart, an earnest patriotism, and high ideals of public duty and public service. True to the principles of the Republican party and to the policies which that party had declared, he has also shown himself ready for every emergency and has met new and vital questions with ability and with success.

The confidence of the people in his justice, inspired by his public career, enabled him to render personally an inestimable service to the country by bringing about a settlement of the coal strike which threatened such disastrous results at the opening of the winter in 1902.

Our foreign policy under his administration has not only been able, vigorous and dignified, but in the highest degree successful. The complicated questions which arose in Venezuela were settled in such a way by President Roosevelt that the Monroe doctrine was signally vindicated and the cause of peace and arbitration greatly advanced.

His prompt and vigorous action in Panama, which we commend in the highest terms, not only secured to us the canal route, but avoided foreign complications which might have been of a very serious character.

A Vigorous Administration.

He has continued the policy of President McKinley in the orient and our position in China, signalized by our recent commercial treaty with that empire, has never been so high.

He secured the tribunal by which the vexed and perilous question of the Alaskan boundary was finally settled.

Whenever crimes against humanity have been perpetrated which have shocked our people, his protest has been made and our good offices have been tendered, but always with due regard to international obligations.

Under his guidance we find ourselves at peace with all the world and never were we more respected or our wishes more regarded by foreign nations.

Pre-eminently successful in regard to our foreign relations he has been equally fortunate in dealing with domestic questions. The country has known that the public credit and the national currency were absolutely safe in the hands of his administration.

In the enforcement of the laws he has shown not only courage, but the wisdom which understands that to permit laws to be violated or disregarded opens the door to anarchy, while the just enforcement of the law is the soundest conservatism. He has held firmly to the fundamental American doctrine that all men must obey the law, that there must be no distinction between rich and poor, between strong and weak, but that justice and equal protection under the law must be secured to every citizen without regard to race, creed or condition.

His administration has been throughout vigorous and honorable, high-minded and patriotic. We commend it without reservation to the considerate judgment of the American people.

MRS. PHIPPS DOES NOT GIVE UP HOPE

Firmly Denies All Chance of Settlement Is Gone—Awaits Word from the East.

GIRLS NOT EXPECTED YET

Mrs. Genevieve Chandler Phipps has not given up all hope of an agreement to her terms offered her husband, Lawrence Cowle Phipps. In reply to a question as to the reliability of a report current last night that Attorney General P. C. Knox had been engaged in Philadelphia, yesterday, to take up her case and fight it to a finish, Mrs. Phipps said to The Gazette:

"I do not think there is a word of truth in it. I have not heard from my attorneys today or yesterday, and I am positive that if every chance of a settlement was gone I would have received word."

When asked if she expected to be in possession of her children shortly, Mrs. Phipps stated:

"No; I do not expect to have them for some time at least, but certainly do, eventually."

"Do you expect to remain in Pittsburgh permanently?" was asked.

"Yes, as far ahead as I can see at present. What shape the case will take, I, of course, cannot say, nor do I know. My attorneys have full power to act, but I am sure that if any decided action was taken today I would have been notified."

Phipps Reported Gone West.

It was stated at the Pittsburgh club yesterday afternoon that Mr. Phipps had left shortly after luncheon and he had gone to Denver to join his attorney, Gersid Hughes, who left for that city late Tuesday night. Former Judge James H. Reed, who had been appealed to as an arbitrator in the attempted settlement here, left for New York city, where he will remain until Friday morning. Mrs. Phipps' attorneys, F. Platt Rogers and James S. Young, left for Valley Forge farm, near Philadelphia, P. C. Knox's country home, Tuesday night, where they conferred and then went to New York.

There was every indication about "Grandview," the Phipps home in Fifth avenue, yesterday, that the present occupants of the house, Mrs. Phipps and her aunt, Mrs. Chandler, had come to stay. A force of gardeners was trimming lawns, planting flowers and mending the walks and driveways. While the terms of peace as laid down by Mrs. Phipps were not agreeable during the recent conference of attorneys here, she still hopes that her propositions will be accepted before the case reaches court.

One of the Oakmont parties put the case in this light yesterday:

"The attorneys for Mrs. Phipps conferred with Mr. P. C. Knox today for the purpose of drawing up papers for a change of venue to Pittsburgh of the suit for divorce, instituted by Mr. Phipps in Denver, on the ground that both parties are residents of this city, and to bear out that contention Mrs. Phipps is living here. To maintain possession of the house is another reason for her visit. Mr. Phipps and his attorney are on their way to Denver to prepare to fight any change of venue and Mrs. Phipps trusts, by taking the initiative, that Mr. Phipps may reconsider his declination of her terms and settle the case without further publicity."

New York Conference.

The following special telegram was received last night from Mr. Alexander Dodds, New York staff correspondent of The Gazette:

Transferring the scene of action from Pittsburgh to this city, counsel for both Lawrence C. Phipps and Mrs. Phipps arrived here this afternoon and went into conference that lasted until late tonight. It was learned that at Pittsburgh the evening before Mrs. Phipps had given out, through her attorneys, as an ultimatum to her husband, a demand for a settlement of $3,500,000 in cash and an agreement that he would allow the children to be in her care for one-half of each year. This demand, after repeated consultations with her attorneys, was refused by Mr. Phipps and his counsel, and after an announcement that Mr. Phipps had refused to agree to the terms set forth by his wife, counsel for Mrs. Phipps got out for this city.

In the office of James M. Beck, No. 44 Wall street, former Judge F. Platt Rodgers and James S. Young of Pittsburgh discussed the situation. Mr. Beck refused to divulge the subjects of conversation.

"Will Mr. Phipps' suit for divorce be contested?" was asked.

"It will be vigorously contested," said Mr. Beck.

Mr. Beck said P. C. Knox was not present at the conference. Attorneys for Mr. Phipps were also in the city. Judge J. H. Reed, a prominent Pittsburgh jurist, came to the Hotel Manhattan, and this evening more conferences were in order. Judge Reed said to a reporter for The Gazette that because of these he would not spare time to discuss the Phipps case.

These conferences lasted until a late hour. One of the persons in consultation with Judge Reed declared his belief that the custody of the children was the stumbling block that stood in the way of a speedy settlement.

STARS AND STRIPES FLY AT THE GERMAN REGATTA

Emperor William Unveils a Memorial Statue to Herr Krupp at Kiel.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

KIEL, PRUSSIA, June 22.—The regatta opened today. The weather was cheerless and a steady, cold rain fell. The German war vessels of the home fleet were moored in lines extending from the entrance to the canal to the shipbuilding yards in the center of the town. There was a large number of American and English yachts in the harbor, including Cornelius Vanderbilt's North Star, Allison V. Armour's Utowana, Frederick W. Vanderbilt's Warrior and Mrs. Robert Goelet's Nahma. The Stars and Stripes and the union jack were much in evidence, and almost every class of boat except the submarine was represented.

Emperor William arrived at 5 o'clock this afternoon, accompanied by Prince Henry of Prussia, and was welcomed by a royal salute of 33 guns from every ship in the fleet. As the royal yacht passed the triple line of warships the crews manned the sides of the vessels and cheered his majesty. Almost immediately after the yacht came to anchor the emperor landed.

Accompanied by Prince Henry of Prussia and Count von Buelow, the imperial chancellor, the emperor unveiled a memorial statue to Herr Krupp in the gardens of the yacht club and listened to an address by Capt. von Arnim, who spoke with his hand at salute for a quarter of an hour. His majesty then returned to the Hoehnzollern.

Mrs. Krupp and her daughters were invited to dinner with the emperor on board the royal yacht.

BRIDAL COUPLE CLOSE TO DEATH

Flight Frightened Horses Who Splintered the Vehicle and Caused a Panic.

TWENTY MEN TO THE RESCUE

Union station was a lively place last evening. Eight bridal couples left on honeymoon tours and the platforms were strewn with rice. Among the couples were Paul A. Sorg and the former Miss Grace W. Aull, and Robert G. West and the former Miss Laura E. Powelson.

The hilarity of the attendants of the last-named couple came within an ace of causing their death. As it was the front of their carriage was kicked into splinters, and it was only by the vigorous efforts of a score of men that they were rescued from their perilous position.

The Powelson-West party reached the station at 9:30 p. m. in half a dozen carriages, the bridal couple in the lead, and going fast to escape the attentions of their friends. As the driver pulled up suddenly to allow husband and wife to make a hasty flight into the depot, one of the horses slipped and fell. It began to kick furiously, and its running mate jumped on top of it and also began to kick. Splinters flew out of the front of the carriage and the vehicle rocked dangerously.

Twenty men were necessary to hold the fallen horse while the other was unhitched at great risk to the volunteers. Before the horses were released and the bride and groom rescued fully 1,000 excited men and women had surrounded the vehicle.

The Powelson-West wedding was held in the West End Methodist church and about 500 guests were present. The groom is a traveling salesman for the Bryce-Higbee Company. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. David Finnigan, pastor the West End church. Miss Margaret Allison and Miss Carrie Powellson were the bridesmaids. Miss Carrie Powellson caught the bridal bouquet which Mrs. Robert G. West threw from the steps before starting on her wedding trip. Miss Jean Mabey and little Miss Powellson, a cousin of the bride, were the flower girls. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Powellson of Western avenue, West End, at whose home a reception and supper followed the ceremony. When the accident occurred the couple were on the way to the station to start on an eastern honeymoon. They will visit New York, Boston and other eastern cities.

The

CITIZENS NOT TO PUT UP TICKET

At Conference of Leaders It Was Decided That Contrary Policy Would Be Suicidal.

WILL SUPPORT REPUBLICANS

The Citizens party will not put up a legislative and county ticket this fall. That was the decision arrived at yesterday by the Citizens party's leaders in conference assembled. Although Thomas S. Bigelow once thought it advisable to nominate Citizens candidates, his advisers have overruled him, declaring such a policy to be suicidal. The only hope for the political future of the leaders lies in "party regularity," they admit, which means that they must support the regular Republican candidates.

But, while the Citizens intend to support the Republican candidates, the conference as about decided to try to capture the Republican organization of Pittsburgh and Allegheny. Every man who was present yesterday indulged himself in the hope that certain tactics directed to that end would be successful.

The conference, like the one of the day before, was held in Director Moore's office in the public safety building. Those present were Murry A. Verner, Mayor Hays, Director Clark, Mayor Wyman of Allegheny and his director of the department of public works, E. J. McIlvain. Director Moore was called away on business and Director Bigelow was not present. At the conclusion of the conference Mayor Hays said:

"I do not believe a Citizens ticket will be put up this fall."

Realizing that it will be impossible by the use of patronage to cause the present members of the Pittsburgh city committee to betray their organization and throw it into the hands of Bigelow, Verner and Hays, the Citizens recognize that they must obtain control at the primaries. Under the rules of the committee only those persons may vote at the primaries who voted for the Republican ticket at the preceding election, and that rule has been interpreted to mean that the voter must have marked a cross in the Republican column on the official ballot. There is, therefore, only one test of Republicanism when it comes to voting at the primaries, and the Citizens leaders have decided that the payrolls of Pittsburgh and Allegheny and of the county shall vote the Republican ticket this fall, so that when the test is prescribed at next year's primaries Citizens party's adherents can swear that they voted in the Republican column.

At next winter's primaries delegates to a convention to nominate a city controller will be elected. The Citizens intend to enter those primaries and try to nominate for controller a man agreeable to them. Even if successful, they will not control the Republican city committee, for the committee will not be changed until the June primaries. The Citizens, therefore, would have to enter those primaries and elect three men from each district to form the ward committee. If they succeed in doing this, they will capture the city committee, for the ward committees each elects three men who form the city committee.

MOORE TELLS LARKIN WHAT LIGHTS ARE OUT

Controller Gets Information from Police Report—Investigation Is Popular.

Controller Larkin yesterday disclosed the source of his information of lights that are not burning each night in different parts of the city. The controller has been publishing daily a list of the places where lights were out the previous night and the general impression has been that the controller has a force of men stationed throughout the city every night gathering this information. The controller dispelled this idea yesterday by giving credit to Director Moore of the department of public safety.

The police force are required nightly to report to police headquarters the lights out and it is from these reports that the controller gleans his information. It is the duty of the public works department to use these reports also in claiming rebates from the Allegheny County Light Company which has the contract to supply light to the city. The city is not supposed to pay for light it does not receive and the controller announces that when the next light payroll reaches him from the public works department he will also ask for a statement of the rebates.

He says that since he began his investigation he has received many letters from people who had given spots where lights were out which were not reported by the police. The controller's reason for this investigation is that it will secure a better light besides getting the benefit of rebates.

"Light is a menace to crime and gives a sense of security to people whose business or pleasure requires them to traverse the streets at night," he said, "and they should have what they pay for."

INVITES HIS PATRONS TO SEE THE SHERIFF

"Come in and see the sheriff—he has the other fellow."

A placard bearing this inscription has been seen in the window of 142 Sixth street for the past few days and has created not a little amusement. No. 142 was occupied by Frank P. Malatesta as a saloon and cafe, with the exception of a small part of the first floor, in which was a cigar stand. Malatesta's place is now in the hands of his creditors, but the cigar man was not affected by the litigation and is taking advantage of every possible opportunity to attract trade.

TRUST COMPANY HAS ASSIGNED

Prudential, Center and Penn Avenues, Will Go Out of Business.

CLAIM NO ONE WILL LOSE

The Prudential Trust Company, Penn and Center avenues, East End, has made an assignment to the Mercantile Trust Company and will close up its affairs as soon as possible. The act was caused by the bank doing a losing business for some time past and was further hastened by the loss of the suit for $29,725, in which Machin & Brown, Philadelphia contractors, were the plaintiffs. Yesterday the Prudential took an appeal to the supreme court from the decision of common pleas court No. 1 in this case.

On the front window of the trust company's office yesterday morning appeared the following card:

The board of directors of the Prudential Trust Company at a meeting held this day have deemed it advisable for the interest of the depositors and other creditors to suspend doing business, and to that end have made a voluntary assignment to the Mercantile Trust Company.

THOMAS A. WATKINS, President.

June 22, 1904.

Ex-Gov. William A. Stone, Stephen Stone and Homer L. Castle, all of the law firm of Stone & Stone, and the Hon. W. H. Graham, president of the Mercantile Trust Company, to which the assignment was made, all stated yesterday that the assignment would not cause a loss to any creditor or stockholder. Mr. Castle issued the following statement:

Says No One Will Lose.

The officers of the Prudential Trust Company desire to make the following statement to the public concerning the reasons which influenced them to close their doors this morning.

For the past year the trust company has been in a practical state of liquidation. A year ago the deposits were about $500,000 and today when the bank closed they were about $150,000. The officers of the Prudential Trust Company have had it in their minds to close out the institution for some time, because it has been unprofitable as a business investment.

With this in view they have not been encouraging deposits, but, on the contrary, have been converting their assets into money and paying off their liabilities. At present their assets are ample, not only to pay all the depositors, but pay the stockholders 100 cents on the dollar. The judgment obtained in the court of common pleas No. 1 and the execution issued thereon before the Prudential Trust Company had an opportunity to appeal the case to the supreme court, brought a large number of the remaining depositors to the bank to get their money and the officers, believing it for the best interests of all to close the doors, refuse to receive any more deposits and pay off those who are already depositors.

With this and in view they authorized the officers of the bank to execute a deed of assignment to the Mercantile Trust Company, which will take hold of the affairs of the company today and as speedily as it is possible pay off the depositors. There is no cause for alarm to anyone connected with the institution, either as a creditor or stockholder.

The appeal to the supreme court yesterday on the decision of common pleas No. 1 ordering a judgment of $29,725 in favor of Machin & Brown, brings up the whole story of the failure of the firm of Machin & Brown, who had the contract for the erection of the big Buckingham apartments at Craft avenue and Kenneth square, Oakland. The Prudential had taken a second mortgage on the work and promised to advance $40,000. When the bank had advanced about $10,000, the contractors became embarrassed financially. Cottingham & Shubert were the indemnitors of Machin & Brown to the surety company which became their bondsmen. Cottingham & Shubert completed the apartments. They called on the Prudential for the balance, $29,725, remaining unpaid out of the $40,000 and were refused. Mr. Cottingham then became involved and made an assignment to Samuel D. Vrooman of Philadelphia. Suit was commenced against the Prudential and the case was won by the plaintiffs, as stated above.

Further Litigation Started.

The matter was also taken into common pleas court No. 1 yesterday in an effort to stay the writ of execution. Judge E. H. Collier refused to take the writ out of the sheriff's hands, the latter proceeding to levy, a deputy being sent to the banking institution for that purpose yesterday afternoon.

The court, however, granted a rule on the plaintiffs to show cause why the execution should not be stayed. This is made returnable next Saturday morning. The petition to stay was presented by the City Trust, Safe Deposit and Surety Company of Philadelphia, which contends it is entitled to the $29,725 for the reason that on May 25, 1904, it obtained judgment aggregating $750,000 against the plaintiffs in the present suit, and that the Prudential Trust Company was summoned as garnishee on the writs of attachment-execution.

The judgments were obtained against Machin & Brown, Shubert & Cottingham and Louis K. Cottingham. The last named is not a plaintiff in the proceedings against the Prudential.

FORTUNE AWAITS CLAIM BY MARTHA HAWKINS

Unless the whereabouts of Martha Hawkins, who is thought to be living in Pittsburgh, is made known shortly to Attorney William P. Reade of San Francisco, Cal., an estate of over $30,000 will be turned over to her mother's relatives. Martha Hawkins' mother was Susan Schenck of Lebanon, Pa. She was married in 1856 to a man named Hawkins of Pittsburgh. He was killed in the civil war and some years later her mother married Robert Hudson and went to the Pacific coast with him, leaving the child in Pittsburgh. The couple accumulated a fortune, but separated. Two years ago Hudson and his wife died, after a reconciliation had been effected.

Thursday, June 23, 1904.

Several hundred people in and around Pittsburg are planning vacation trips, and we beg to advise this store has about everything that is required for such trips—everything for men and women, boys and girls. This applies to personal wear and to all requisites. No department is more conspicuously able to help women to something nice than is the Millinery Department, where

Mid-Summer Hats Are Sold for Half Prices.

Often Prices Are Less Than Half.

With summer just introduced we are ready to offer advance styles of Mid-Summer Hats and Toques for prices that are really of no consequence. The woman who goes away for the Summer thinks first of a becoming hat or a number of them. With prices down to where we have them it is easy enough to own any number of hats. Take a look through this list and make a mental note of the variety—

At $ 1.00 Trimmed Hats that sold for $ 2.50.
At $ 2.50 Trimmed Hats that sold for $ 5.00.
At $ 3.50 Trimmed Hats that sold for $ 7.50.
At $ 5.00 Trimmed Hats that sold for $10.00.
At $ 7.50 Trimmed Hats that sold for $15.00.
At $ 9.00 Trimmed Hats that sold for $18.00.
At $11.00 Trimmed Hats that sold for $22.00.
At $14.00 Trimmed Hats that sold for $28.00.
At $17.50 Trimmed Hats that sold for $35.00.
At $22.50 Trimmed Hats that sold for $45.00.

That's very good, isn't it? Now suppose you have the notion to put the trimmings on a hat, yourself, and want to buy both trimmings and hat, we'll see what we can do for you.

Untrimmed Straws.

Name the kind of straw you prefer, state your favorite color, and buy at such reductions as follow:

Short pieces of Velvet, Chiffon, Tulle, Braids, Nets and whatsoever stuffs that help out the bedecking are marked.

ONE-HALF FORMER PRICES.

Glasgow, Scotland, Madras, 18c a Yard.

See it on display in Penn avenue window. Buy in Main Aisle, first floor, West store.

In quality this madras is in every way equal to the finest D. & J. Anderson Madras, which retails for 40c a yard. The styles are of the latest and the colors most fetching. The manufacturer has a wide reputation as weaving only the finest of Scotch madras.

Ready today—4,800 yards at the price.

Awnings of Various Styles.

Practically all awnings come under one of these four heads: Vudor Awnings, Baltimore Slat Awnings, Cloth and Extension Cloth Awnings. Other styles resemble one of these four in one way or another. The whole question is, which sort to you like best? We have them all and are prepared to furnish them at much less than the usual prices.

The Extension Awning comes in two sizes, 2 feet 6 inches and 4 feet. The former extends to 4 feet, and costs $3.00. Anyone can fit it in place. The 4-foot size can be extended to 6 feet 6 inches, and costs $4.50 each. Blue and white stripes.

Vudor Awnings, come in two colors and styles. Solid dark green and mottled olive effect, with lemon colored dado. Prices as follows: All are 8-foot drop, 4 ft., $2.00; 6 ft., $2.75; 8 ft., $3.50; 10 ft., $5.00.

Baltimore Slat Awnings resemble the old Venetian blinds—they keep out the sun and let in the air, you can see through them from the inside, but from the outside they are perfectly opaque. Made to fit either porch or windows. All sizes under 20 square feet, $6.00 each, over that size, 30c a square foot. 50c each for fitting up.

Cloth Awnings—we usually make these to order. We use none but the best materials, John Boyle's awning ducks, which are guaranteed, and the best galvanized iron fixtures. Prices furnished on application.

Prettiest of Summer Wash Waists.

It is hard to tell you intelligently about the waists this Summer—they are so fanciful, there is so much variety not only in the materials used and in the trimmings applied but in the many ways of their application. And styles vary so, it seems as though every line has a touch of individuality of its own. As to prices, well, judge by these:

At $1.50. Waists of sheer Persian lawn. Entire front trimmed with rows of French eyelet embroidery and box pleats. Box-pleated back, pouch sleeves, fancy stock.

At $1.50. Waists of Panama cloth, full tucked front with bands of brier stitching down the center pleat. Tucked back. Full sleeves, self stock.

At $3.00. Waists of dotted swiss, full tucked front and back, full sleeves, tucked stock—buttons down back.

At $2.75 to $7.00 we have an exceptionally complete line of tailor-made waists—made of linen, madras, French lawn, pique, oxford or handkerchief linen.

Decorative Plants—Artificial.

Some days ago we announced a sale of all the artificial plants we had used in decorating our millinery floor. We still have a few left at the following prices:

50c Plants, 15c each; 75c Plants, 25c each; $1.00 Plants, 50c each; $1.50 Plants, 75c each; $3.00 plants, $1.00 each.

These plants are suitable for decorating the home or for large halls or churches.

Dutch Silver for Wedding Presents.

We have just received a nice new line of Dutch Silver. An American who has just returned from a lengthy trip to Europe states that the vogue for quaint Dutch wares of various kinds instead of being on the wane is gathering fresh impetus right along. It would seem as though little Holland would not rest content until she has gained the position in the world of art once occupied by all things Flemish.

Dutch silver represents the finest handwork and makes the most acceptable of wedding presents. The line includes Cream Pitchers, Sugar Bowls, Tea Caddies, Bon-Bons, Salt Dishes, Call Bells, Trays, etc., and prices run from $2.00 up to $25.00.

Women's Silk Hosiery.

Every woman likes to own a few pairs of silk stockings, but they don't often have opportunity to realize their desires at such prices as we quote today.

Tan silk hose are extremely stylish when worn with the popular tan oxfords. Many different shades and styles here.

Lawn Swings Closely Priced.

What the cosy corner is to the inside of a house so is the lawn swing to the exterior. In fact, a lawn, whether large or small, is not complete nowadays without a lawn swing. Look about you and prove this for yourself. The children derive an immense amount of pleasure in a swing, while the grown-ups find their pleasure in a combination of the gentle rocking motion and a book.

Steel Lawn Swings—they are the best, practically never wear out—$9.50 and $12.50.
Wooden Lawn Swings, $6.00.

If you have decided to buy a new Hammock, come in and look over our line before making your purchase. We have all the good ones on the market—from 95c to $6.00.

Thursday, June 23, 1904.

The Gazette desires to call the attention of those of its readers who contemplate summer trips to the announcements of the many summer resort hotels published on page 14 of this issue.

After two days of conferences, it is announced the Citizens party leaders have decided not to put forward a ticket for the fall campaign. It is just as well. The defeat of the party in the county last fall was notice from the people that the organization had outlived its usefulness. At best it was but a temporary expedient to dispose of a machine that had become too arbitrary in its methods. When the new party fell into the hands of leaders who began to organize a machine on worse lines there was no longer any reason why it should exist. The Republican party is coming back to its own with a full sense of party responsibility and ready to give good government in return for public confidence. On that basis alone can any party survive.

In this season of commencements there have been none more entertaining than that at the Western Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, at Edgewood. The training of the pupils there is wonderful. The course is thorough and the number of teachers sufficient to take account of the individual characteristics of each pupil. The result needs to be seen to be appreciated. This school is deserving of all the aid given by the state and public. It fills an important field well. Dealing with a class of unfortunates in jeopardy of becoming human derelicts, it converts them into useful, educated citizens. There is no higher benevolence than to put the unfortunate in a way to help themselves and that is the function of the Edgewood institution.

The once wild and woolly west has arrived at that stage in its evolution when its colleges and universities need no longer draw upon the storehouses of eastern culture for their supply of presidents and professors. This significant fact is apparent in the recent election of Prof. Charles R. Van Hise, the distinguished geologist, to the presidency of the University of Wisconsin. Not only is he a graduate of the Madison university, but he is also a native of Wisconsin. With the exception of President Bryan of the University of Indiana, it is said he is the only "native son" from the middle western states to be entrusted with the administration of a prominent western educational institution.

While the newspaper correspondents who are following the Japanese army have entered protest against the severity of the censorship, it is noted that Gen. Pflug, chief of staff with Viceroy Alexieff, threatens to suspend all correspondents whose papers are not delivered regularly to his headquarters. These things serve to indicate the reason why there is not a continuous flow of authentic news from the war area. Each of the parties concerned has good cause for the several positions taken. There is a conflict of interests. Naturally, as the war operations are of the first importance, the news venders will be obliged to await the the pleasure of the censors. This may irritate the public as well as the correspondents, but the irritation will pass, while the publication of unauthorized information might do serious injury.

While paragraphers may jibe at the presence of four women alternates in the Chicago convention, the incident is nevertheless historic. They are there because the spread of the doctrine of female suffrage in certain western states has given them a right to be. He is a superficial student of history who can see in that fact nothing more significant than occasion for jesting. It is more than a coincidence, also, that women for the first time made their appearance as delegates in the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, recently closed. No body has fought harder or more bitterly against the introduction of women upon its floor than the general conference. The Los Angeles and the Chicago incidents taken together are markers in the progress of a movement that, however one may be inclined to regard it, has been growing for years and may continue to full fruition if it does not disappoint the public sentiment that has thus far aided it.

Recovery of bodies from the General Slocum bears out fully the original estimate of The Gazette that the death roll would comprise more than one-half of the total passenger list. The loss of life is unprecedented in a disaster of the kind. Meantime the inquest of the coroner is bringing to light the causes for the frightful mortality. By the testimony of witnesses there were no precautions taken to prevent a disaster and none to limit its fatal results. Nearly everything about the boat was old and unfit for service. Inflammable materials were stored under the cabins where they could do the most harm. There was no discipline among the crew. Some of the officers and men were without the necessary experience to properly discharge their duties. In short, if the testimony may be relied upon, there was a combination of circumstances and conditions favorable to just such a disaster as occurred. Of course, there was no criminal intent, but the false sense of security led to conditions worse even than if they had been planned. It remains to be determined to whom the heaviest responsibility must be charged. Whoever it may he has a heavy load to carry.

The Republican Platform.

Every citizen should read with attention the platform adopted by the Republican national convention at Chicago yesterday. It sums up briefly the record of the Republican party, and every man may find in what it has accomplished ample reason for the confidence shown by the people. Since the first successful campaign of this great party 44 years ago the Democratic party has been in full control of the government for but two years and they were years of disaster. Prosperity and progress followed the restoration of Republican control, and the platform lays particular stress upon what the party's representatives in the executive and legislative branches have done since the restoration.

It is only when the party achievements are thus summed up that we can fully appreciate the excellent manner in which the public business has been conducted. During the past eight years the credit of the nation has been re-established, ample revenues provided for public purposes, large additions made to the navy, the gold standard affirmed, Cuba liberated, the authority of government over great combinations of capital affirmed, the Panama canal begun and the general welfare of all of the people promoted. The record is one on which the party can afford to stand and on which it is not ashamed to ask a continuance of the popular confidence.

In its promises for the future the platform is not profuse. It declares the adherence of the party to the policies it has carried to successful fruition. It promises continuance of its care for the just interests of industry and commerce, the protection of labor and capital, the safeguarding of life and property. It promises the protection of American citizens and their interests abroad and points to the protection afforded in the past, as illustration of what it means.

In a phrase, the platform "stands pat." There is nothing in the record or policies of the party to apologize for. On the tariff in particular it "stands pat," adhering rigidly to the policy of protection, decrying frequent revision of schedules, objecting to any revision except by the Republican party along Republican lines. It is admitted that schedules should be changed to meet changed conditions, and reciprocity is favored whenever reciprocal arrangements can be made without injury to American interests. There is no surrender at any point of any Republican principle advocated in previous campaigns or embodied in legislation or executive action.

With the adoption of this vigorous platform the convention is ready to nominate its candidates today and submit its case to the people. The candidates are known in advance. They are in full sympathy with the platform and embody its principles in their personal and political records. It will be a strong ticket, and the harmonious Republican party will go to the polls in November without a fear or misgiving about its success. The party never opened a campaign under more auspicious conditions. It has long enjoyed the confidence of the people, has deserved it and will have it in the future.

Judge Parker's Chances.

Considerable attention has been given to an article in the New York Times, predicting the certain nomination of Judge Parker at St. Louis. The prediction is based upon the claim that Judge Parker will have 380 votes on the first ballot and that no candidate has ever been beaten in a national convention who had that many votes on first ballot. With the prediction we do not care to deal, as it is "not our funeral." But the basis for it is so absurd it ought not to go unchallenged.

Suppose it to be true that no candidate has ever been beaten in a national convention who had 380 votes on first ballot. It by no means follows that none ever will be. It is a fact that candidates with a larger percentage of the total than 380 will be of the total in the St. Louis convention have been beaten. Grant had 304 votes out of a total of 756 in the Chicago convention of 1880, but Garfield was nominated. Now, 304 to 756 is in much larger proportion than 380 to the total vote in the St. Louis convention. Under the Republican rules a majority is sufficient; by the Democratic rule two-thirds are required to nominate.

Going to the past for guidance, the chances against Judge Parker are great. If he has no more than 380 votes on first ballot he will have but about one-third of the convention. Yet he will be the leading candidate, with the field against him. Every man with a few votes and an ambition will have as good a chance to draw from the field as will Judge Parker. Every man in control of a delegation will be more ready to give complimentary votes to any other than to the leader, whose initial strength makes him dangerous. That is why the history of nominating conventions contains so many instances of the nomination of inconspicuous candidates. The "dark horse" has so often been a winner that he has become famous. When a leader wins he wins at the start, never by a compromise.

We do not undertake to say that Judge Parker will not be the Democratic nominee. There is time enough before July 6 to work many combinations. We do not even assume, as the New York Times does, that he can muster no more than 380 votes on first ballot, but it is as plain as a pike staff that if his initial strength is no more than that he is a long way from having any sure thing on the nomination.

Alive or Dead.

In the matter of Perdicaris and Varley there is no progress. Raisuli continues to prefer new demands and the sultan of Morocco to make new promises. Secretary Hay is well within the bounds of reason in suspecting bad faith and entirely within his rights in demanding that the sultan of Morocco shall speedily deliver "Perdicaris alive, or Raisuli dead."

It is a feature of Mohammedan diplomacy to make fair promises not followed by performance, just as it is a feature of their government systems to permit the existence of banditti. The government of Morocco is a mere tradition, as it is irresponsible and nerveless. But a situation has developed that will lead to results. An American citizen has been kidnaped while under the protection of the government of Morocco, and that government is expected to restore that American citizen to his friends, or to inflict just punishment upon his abductors. This is precisely what Secretary Hay demands, and if the demand is not complied with Morocco will suffer the consequences.

Morocco cannot hope to escape responsibility with an American fleet in the harbor of Tangier. That fleet is there to enforce the demands of the American government for justice to its citizens. There has been enough tomfoolery and delay and opera bouffe about the Perdicaris abduction and it is now time for business. All that could reasonably be done has been done by the American government to save the lives of Perdicaris and Varley, and it is now up to the point of enforcement of international law. The fleet cannot wait at Tangier all summer out of consideration for the whims or fancies of a bandit, or those of a spineless sultan.

The Day of the Specialist.

Three weeks ago, when the canal commissioners returned from their preliminary trip to the Panama zone, they found a wagonload of applications for positions awaiting their return. That the flood has not diminished but rather increased is evident from the large, cold shower bath which Secretary Murphy of the commission has just let down upon the heads of applicants. In substance, Mr. Murphy says not one applicant in a hundred stands a chance of getting employment under the commission, and this for two reasons: First, none but specialists are desired; and second, no one is wanted who has not a constitution fitted to endure the enervating climate of Panama.

This emphasizes the value of a technical training for young men. The chap with a makeshift education is as undesirable as the jack-of-all-trades. In the highly specialized departments of our government, as in most large businesses, what is now needed is the man who has fitted himself to do some particular thing thoroughly. Our universities are prodigal of just such opportunities today, and the young fellow who doesn't care to utilize them has no one to blame but himself if he finds that no one cares to use him. Moreover, a technical training does not make a man narrow or lop-sided. On the contrary, it is a well understood fact in the science of pedagogy that from the kindergarten up to the laboratory nothing so makes for the enlargement of the mental horizon and the development of latent faculties as thorough, earnest application even to one chosen work.

The graduates at the State Normal school at California, Pa., wisely refrained from solving life's problems in advance, the class giving a symposium on Longfellow instead. An individual, who some years ago, in a graduating address, discussed the question: "Is Poverty a Curse?" from a negative standpoint, is now a blatant advocate of the affirmative. 'Twas ever so.

Local meat dealers threaten to shut up shop if prices are not reduced by the packers. This is a pretty good indication that the advance is regarded as a purely arbitrary one.

Cassini's protest again suggests that the real motive of the Chinese wall was to prevent the necessity of having diplomatic relations with jealous nations.

A boom has been started for Root in 1908. Surely this is not done by his friends for what boom can survive the frosts of four winters?

That stray iceberg in the harbor of Nantucket may be a hunk from the field of frozen silence up in Esopus.

The wharf-cleaners are said to be digging up a lot of old cranks. For heaven's sake let them stay decently buried!

Geography classes will please take notice that a new product has been added to the list of Colorado's exports.

The St. Louis convention may have to convey the nomination to Bi'er Parker in the deaf and dumb language.

Mary Ellen Stone might be able to give the state department some expert advice in the Perdicaris matter.

Gen. Corbin might be induced to buy that stock of buttons left in the hands of the Cannon boomers.

Oxford didn't risk the wireless system in sending that degree of doctor of science to Marconi.

"Uncle Joe's" remarks concerning the vice presidency will hardly be preserved as canonical.

What will become of the war if they keep on shooting the war correspondents?

Gen. Kuroki also seems to be something of a "stand patter."

Talked of in Gotham

By GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 22.—Idle men in New York, and presumably in other cities as well, have a chance to get good-paying work for the summer. This is not a new condition, because there usually is employment for laborers outside of New York, if the panhandlers and park loafers would only accept it. Out in the wheat belt of Missouri there are needed 21,000 extra hands to harvest the crop, and the wages offered are from $2 to $3 50 a day, with board and lodging. This is on the authority of John J. Bealin, superintendent of the state free employment bureau of this city, who has it from Labor Commissioner Anderson of Missouri. Do you suppose men will go rushing from New York to Missouri to take these fat jobs? Not much. It is too pleasant for them to sit under the trees in Union square, City Hall park, Washington square, or some other of the numerous idling places kindly provided by a paternal municipal government for the lazy rounders who sprawl over the seats for as many hours of the day and night as the police will permit. It would not cost them anything to get to Missouri, for their fare would be advanced with due precautions to see that they went into the fields when they get to the journey's end. There is no chance for a free ride without work.

Still, the Missouri opportunity is not the only one. Men who really want to work can go across the Hudson river into New Jersey and find many farmers who will give them employment at once. The cry for men to work in the fields is downright pathetic in Jersey every summer. But why should one work when he can have a pleasant seat in a park, with nothing to do all day but to watch the fountain or read any stray newspaper that blows toward him? There is no room for more hoboes at Blackwell's island. Hence they are allowed to spend their time in the parks because the police can watch them easier there than when they are scattered about town.

Mixed Ale Loses to Lager.

It is said that "mixed ale" is going out of favor in New York. The "growler" is rushed busily as ever in the tenement district, but the beverage purchased usually is lager beer of the regulation American brew. Ale is not sought as much as it was a few years ago, and so marked is the falling off in demands for it that one brewery which used to devote itself principally to the manufacture of ale has gone out of existence, after a career of half a century. Beer contains less alcohol than ale, and is as refreshing to the thirsty soul as its stronger rival. That seems to be the cause of the change, irrespective of the ever increasing German population in this metropolis.

The Genuine "Hey Rube."

New Yorkers are as easily taken in by worn out swindling games as the people of other cities, if not easier. A fellow of respectable appearance bustled up to a flat in Forty-fourth street, and told Mrs. Taylor her husband was in the police station charged with drunkenness and had sent home for his best suit of clothes, because his others were too torn and muddy to wear. The lady handed over the clothes. In the evening Mr. Taylor came home, after his day's work, decently clad in his right mind. The thief was caught subsequently, but he had pawned Mr. Taylor's best suit.

Cook Is Smuggler Bold.

Smuggling goes on gaily on some of the less well-known steamers. The customs inspectors yesterday seized 2,282 cigars on a steamer from Havana. The cook turned out to be the bold smuggler in this case.

Off for Maloney Wedding.

It was a pleasant bustle at the railroad station in Jersey City this morning when a party of New York guests at the wedding of Miss Margaret F. Maloney of Philadelphia and Carberry Ritchie of Washington assembled there to take the special train for Spring Lake, N. J. It was decidedly the Catholic wedding of the season. Cardinal Satolli an old friend of the Maloney family, Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop Ryan all took part in the ceremony. The station looked like a conservatory as the train started, everyone had flowers and the conductor blossomed out with an American beauty rose that made him quite one of the wedding party.

Poor Old Paterson.

Paterson had another fire today. It was a trifling affair—for Paterson, the damage being not more than $500,000. It will throw 2,000 persons out of work, however. There is bitter irony in the fact that a carnival is in progress in the city to raise money for a hospital and at the same time to express satisfaction over the era of prosperity setting in after the last of the several big disasters which have visited Paterson in the last two years. People had become accustomed to the belief that their ill luck was over. Now comes the burning of two mills at one swoop, and Patersonians are questioning whether it ever will stop.

Noise, at Least, Genuine.

Superstitious people are wondering whether that mysterious sloop which blew up in the bay off South Brooklyn early this morning was really a material vessel or only a creature of some Brooklynites' fantastic imagination. The thing, whatever it was, made a loud noise, showed a sheet of flame and was gone. Gone utterly, although it is reported that bits of wreckage, a man's hat, a shoe and a gasoline tank, were picked up near where the explosion took place. It is supposed there were human beings aboard who were blown into nothingness with the yacht. It is all awfully uncanny. Imagine a ship 35 feet long being suddenly and completely annihilated within a few feet of shore. Surely she must have come from the same impish shipyard as the Flying Dutchman of supernatural memory.

Smokes Wrong Sort of Dope.

A young man who was arrested today in contempt of court proceedings connected with a cigarette bill of $40, lost $2,300 on the races last week. Quite natural. A cigarette-smoker who buys $40 worth of "coffin nails" before paying for any of them is just the kind of idiot who would lose his cigarette money on the "ponies."

All Eyes on Col. Guffey.

Col. James M. Guffey is on a Democratic eminence in this city. All eyes of members of his party are turned toward him, and there is almost as much eagerness to hear him make an announcement as to what will be done at the St. Louis convention as there is to get an expression from Judge Parker. Col. Guffey merely remarks that Pennsylvania will vote for the man considered the strongest, and lets it go at that. He has the verbal statesman-like gift of being able to smile amiably without giving himself away.

People Must Trust.

The country has the greatest confidence in the attorney general. It believes him to be not only a lawyer of learning, but a man of wisdom, and neither the imputations of the opposition press nor the sarcasm of the manipulators of trust properties will impair the attorney general's hold upon the people.—Louisville Evening Post.

The Quiet Observer

By ERASMUS WILSON.

If the police were to arrest a few of the fresh boys who are shooting crackers at this distance from the Fourth they would earn the thanks of nearly everybody.

These boys get a few crackers and hie themselves over into the next ward, or at least a good distance from their homes, where they crack them off, and then scoot for cover.

Of course, a policeman can't be at both ends of his beat and in the middle at the same time, but it strikes the average citizen that he might vary his rounds a little by striking across lots when he hears shooting.

Boys have rights the same as other folks, and so have the people who live along the streets, and particularly those who are sick, or are annoyed by the sharp bangs of car-splitting crackers.

Nor is it simply annoying to the sick, but positively dangerous to those suffering from nervous fever, or from nervous irritability, a condition that occurs at some period during the run of nearly every acute or inflammatory disease. Persons suffering from inflammatory rheumatism, and children with nervous disorders, or delirious, or very weak, may readily be startled so that they will die, or be made to suffer most intensely.

* * * * *

The Fourth of July is here to stay, and it is conceded that it calls for the smell of powder, the boom of cannon and the rattle of small arms, but that does not carry with it the right to fire cannon in the streets, nor to injure and annoy residents with pistols, fire crackers and bombs.

The use of these may be regulated and they should be if we hope to keep our national holiday from falling into disrepute. As it is now there are thousands of people in the two cities who dread the approach of the day, and not a few leave town altogether in order to escape the shooting nuisance.

It does no good to post a notice on a house in which some one is sick, or even dying, for thoughtless, reckless shooters are not looking for signs, and some are so foolhardy that they would shoot all the more just to show that they don't have to be either respectful or decent.

Those are the chappies who are now shooting in violation of city ordinances and under the very noses of the police. Finding that they can safely defy these ordinances and dodge the police, is it not quite likely that they will feel emboldened to ignore other ordinances and to defy the police on other occasions?

* * * * *

Arresting some of the offenders and walking them to the magistrate's office, would put a stop to the nuisance. But other and more far-reaching results would be secured. Next to a decent respect for rules and laws is a wholesome fear of the law and its officers.

Well reared and properly disciplined children have respect for established rules and regulations and for officers of the law. These do not need to fear either, because law is only for those who offend common decency, and officers have no terror for those who believe themselves as they should.

Those who do not thus behave themselves, and who dare to ignore the law, should be made to pay the penalty prescribed for their wrong-doing. And if taken at the start this will have a far better influence for good than if offenders are allowed to escape until they have become tough and more incorrigible.

Anyway, don't you think it is about time to take hold of the bad boy and try to lick him into better shape?

If he keeps on his wrong course he can only come to a bad end, and that is certain and sure.

Don't the authorities, therefore, owe it not only to the boy to change his course for the better, but owe it to his parents, to society and to the world.

* * * * *

Be that as it may the fact remains, and is plain to be seen, that there is a mighty lot of raw material going to waste which might be shaped into decent men and women were it given the attention that ought to be given to it.

Yes, decent is the word; for if all were decent this world would be much nearer heaven than it is.

A decent man is, to all intents and purposes, a good man—a reasonably good man.

And common sense teaches that a decent man is more likely to develop into a really good man than is one who is not decent, so that the proper course begins with leading boys into the ways of decency, or compelling to train decently.

But while boys are permitted to use indecent language in the streets and to act indecently in public places, must we not expect a large output of indecent men?

The proper place to begin doing anything that is worth doing, is at the beginning.

The boy is the beginning of the man.

* * * * *

It is hardly too much to say that a lady cannot walk two squares in the more crowded part of the city without being compelled to hear not only profane language, but language that is positively indecent and only too often disgustingly vile.

Do the policemen on these choice beats ever hear any of this sort of talk?

They may not hear it in their official capacity, but they must hear it the same as ladies and gentlemen do, for surely they are not deaf as posts.

If fine looking blackguards are allowed to spit their vileness in the face of the public you may be sure the small boy will not be slow in imitating them, so that in a measure, he is not to blame, but he will develop into an indecent man just the same.

The times demand decent men and the only certain means by which the demand may be supplied is to rear decent boys. If they cannot be so reared in their homes or in their present environment, what is the matter with the state making them its wards and bringing them up decently?

If it doesn't do this it is only a question of time until it makes many of them its wards under the oversight of prison keepers.

Anyway this is a most interesting as well as a most important subject for discussion and for thinking over.

New "Murphy" from Uruguay.

Potatoes said to be immune from disease have been cultivated experimentally in France for three years. The seed was obtained from Uruguay, where the plant grows on the banks of the Mercedes river. Its botanical name is Solanum commersonii, but the French are calling it the Uruguay Irish potato. The family to which it belongs is a large one. Among the new potato's first cousins are the common potato, the eggplant, the tomato, bittersweet, the horse nettle and the common nightshade. Some of its uncles and aunts are tobacco, jimson weed, henbane and matrimony vine. With so many medicinal herbs in the family even the common potato ought to be free from disease.—Youth's Companion.

The Point of View

THE STROLLER.

When you take your vacation these days, what are you going to see? A young drug clerk of my acquaintance has just returned from a trip down the river by steamer, and he saw—drugs. He failed to mention to me the fact that he saw some of the finest views between the Alleghenies and the Rockies, the moonlight on the river does not seem to have attracted him and to have made him feel the supreme joy of just being alive, the grand hills and valleys of Kentucky and Ohio seem to have escaped his view, likewise the beauties of Louisville, its homes, its streets, shaded and cool even in the hottest days; but he saw the evil-smelling drug stores.

"Why, they are selling—mentioning a popular patent medicine—for 62 cents in Louisville," he told me.

"That's interesting," I replied, "what do you get for it here?"

"We get 78, and it's cut from $1, at that," he replied seriously.

My young friend, the druggist, is like the Irishman in the old story, who suddenly got rich and started around the world in an effort to spend some of his superfluous wealth. All he saw was the price of potatoes.

"What did you think of Calcutta?" he was asked.

"Why sir, do you know, the price of potatoes was $10 a barrel."

"Melbourne is a fine city," remarked his friend.

"Potatoes were worth $8 a barrel in Melbourne," was his only comment.

It was evidently a potato race around the world. His point of view narrowed until his horizon was just a big field of tubers.

This is an argument against Uncle Russell Sage's statement that no man needs a vacation. What we need are more vacations, more leisure to enlarge our point of view. We are too much of a work-a-day nation as it is, and if we followed Uncle Russell's advice and skipped our annual outing we would finally dry up and blow away with the first strong wind that came along. What we need most—we people of the city—is to get out and away from the noise of manufacture and look upon the peace and quiet of some country village. We laugh at the villagers, at least some of us do, but how many times do we envy them the peace and quiet of their daily lives!

Someone ought to write a "Guide to Vacations." A little good advice on this subject would help most of us. It would advise the chaps pent up in an office all day long, from one week's end to another, to get out on someone's farm and pitch hay for a couple of weeks. What a boon it is to the people of Kansas City and Topeka that they are in the wheat belt, where harvest hands are worth almost their weight in gold! There the clerk, the doctor and the lawyer can go out and make a little piece of money besides his board, and have the time of his life gathering sheaves, shocking wheat and finally helping to thresh.

But how many of them have seen the opportunity for such a glorious vacation? Some of them who hail from the country and who still have country relatives do, probably, but the rest of the poor chaps lie around doing nothing, and get only half the benefit of the vacation that they should have.

One of the pleasantest memories I have is of a family reunion when I was a youngster. We gathered at the old homestead, so many of us that same had to sleep on the floor, although it was a big house with many rooms. It was harvest time and we all got out and helped, the men binding the sheaves and the boys gathering them. Talk about sport! It beats baseball for a vacation, is almost as good as fishing—and if you have a few friends with you I sometimes think it even better than fishing! And then remember the appetite you had and the welcome sound of the dinner bell about 11 o'clock. That dinner bell meant something. It meant a table burdened with good things, and it meant an appetite to clear the table. Then half an hour or so lying on the grass under the trees drinking in the pure air and living! Farm life is hard work, but it has many compensations we city people are prone to forget. And greatest among them is the ability it gives one to eat and to sleep. You forget everything when your head hits the pillow, and your next consciousness comes when the sun is up and breakfast is ready.

Then there is something else in the summer vacation I have suggested. You have accomplished something. You have added to the world's food supply, you have added to the comfort of someone beside yourself, and when you retire at night you feel the satisfaction of having had a good time without being idle. Your muscles will be a little sore in the morning, but that will soon wear off, and you will again enter into the sport of playing farmer. Perhaps that is what makes it alluring—the fact that you are only playing farmer, but most play is work under a different name.

Take my advice, some of you tired and shop-worn men, and see if playing farmer is not just as much fun as playing golf, or tennis, or baseball. It is worth while, if you never played the game. You will want another two weeks of it next year.

She Had Mixed Them.

A woman walked into a grocer's shop in a place in England one day with her sleeves turned up to her elbows and a fighting light in her eyes.

"This 'ere," she observed with a sniff, as she banged a piece of yellowy substance on the counter, "is the soap what does the washin' of itself; the soap what makes ev'ry washin' day a kind of glorified beanfeast; the soap what gits all the linen as white as snow and as sweet as a 'azel nut by dinner time, and lets the 'appy housewife spend the rest of the day playin' 'unt the slipper with the children; and 'ere am I been scrubbin' three mortal hours with that lump and ain't got so much lather out of it as I could git from a brickbat!"

"I beg your pardon," remarked the grocer courteously, "but it isn't the soap. Your little boy came in here yesterday for half a pound of both soap and cheese; that's the cheese."

"The cheese!" gasped the woman. "That accounts for the other thing, then."

"The other thing?" queried the grocer.

"Yes, the other thing," came the reply. "I was laying awake 'alf the night wonderin' what it was made the Welsh rabbit we 'ad for supper taste so funny."—Pittsburgh Catholic.

Plenty of Texts.

The Hoosier poet, James Whitcomb Riley, tells a story of an old fellow who asked for work at the Riley farm in the poet's boyhood. He was set at hoeing potatoes, but did not prove to be especially industrious. When taken to task for his lack of application he only replied: "Wall, the Good Book says 'Do all things in moderation.'" "Well, it came on dinner time at last," says the humorist, "and the old codger did his share nobly. In fact, he ate enough to kill two or three ordinary men. Someone gently hinted that his text didn't seem to apply. He opened a worn little Bible and imperturbably pointed to a passage. It read: 'Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with all thy might."—Buffalo Commercial.

A Simple Question.

The judge looked at the trembling and bewildered witness, and his face took on its most benign expression.

"Now, my good woman," he said cheerfully, "you have only to answer in the fewest possible words these simple questions: Whether when you were crossing the street with the baby on your arm, and the omnibus was coming down on the right, and the cab on the left, and the brougham was trying to pass the omnibus, you saw the plaintiff between the brougham and the cab, or the brougham and the omnibus, whether he seemed in haste, and which one of the three cabs coming from the other direction he appeared to you to be hailing."—Youth's Companion.

PERSONALS

The annual banquet of the baseball club of the Holy Ghost college was held last evening at Newell's hotel. Besides the 14 players, several invited guests were present. J. B. Topham, director of the athletic department of the college, was toastmaster. He introduced the Rev. Father Thomas Giblin, who spoke on "Athletics in General." The Rev. John J. Laux also made an address. During the evening J. B. Keating was elected manager of the club for this season and E. Hays, captain.

Eugene Bassett, aged 7, was a passenger on the Pennsylvania limited last evening. He was on his way to Detroit to visit his grandparents. "I'm going to see grandma," he said, "and I know the road. I don't need a tag pinned on me, either, like some kids have."

Dr. W. R. Batt, field officer of the state board of health, spent yesterday in Pittsburgh. He left last night for Philadelphia. He said: "After a thorough investigation of the state, I find little smallpox. The disease has practically been wiped out. There are traces of it, but they are so scattered that an epidemic is not anticipated. As the warm weather will continue for the next three months, we do not expect any more trouble with the malady. Typhoid fever is less prevalent than for several months. People are taking better precautions than formerly. The sanitation of the smaller towns is far better than ever before, to which is largely due the scarcity of fever cases."

Lew R. Thomas, secretary of the Federated Metal Trades, with headquarters in Washington, spent yesterday in Pittsburgh. He was here trying to form a district council of the various metal trades.

LIFE PRESERVERS NOT FOR SLOCUM

Assistant District Attorney Says He Found Them All on Grand Republic.

DYNAMITE BRINGS UP BODIES

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 22.—With tremendous concussions, 1,000 pounds of dynamite was detonated in the East river near the wreck of the Gen. Slocum this afternoon in an effort to bring to the surface bodies still lying in the mud of the river bottom.

The first charge set off consisted of 100 pounds, and the shock of the explosion shook North Brothers island. A small column of water rose in the air, but the most marked effect was the disturbance of the water for a mile on all sides. It rolled up on the beaches in miniature tidal waves.

A few seconds after the first detonation thousands of stunned fish rose to the surface and lay motionless on the water. The river was dotted with them. No bodies were seen. Then a second charge of 200 pounds was set off and before the terrific roar had died away four bodies came up and were picked up by launches. After that the charges were set off at various intervals.

The sticks of dynamite were place on pieces of board which were sunk three feet below the surface.

The water where the dynamite was sunk is 90 feet deep, and the sticks were placed over points where holes are located. The police boat Patrol went up and down the river giving warning to boats to give the island a wide berth, and when the first charge was set off there was quite a collection of boats both above and below the places designated for the explosions.

Movement to Force Safety.

A movement, in which it is stated many churches will join, was inaugurated this afternoon at a meeting of the vestry of the St. John's Episcopal church of Brooklyn, when resolutions were passed declaring that no more excursions by water will be sanctioned unill the steamboat companies have complied with all the laws and made their boats fireproof.

The first witness that Coroner Berry called when the inquest opened today was the Rev. Dr. Schultz, a young Lutheran clergyman of Mount Vernon, whose church is in Erie, Pa. He said the first he knew of the fire was when he saw flames shooting from the stairway. Running astern he saw a deckhand trying to escape from the boat.

"He climbed up on the guard rail," the minister said, "and fought off a number of passengers who clung to him desperately, so he could be saved. But he paid no heed; he jumped overboard. That was my first inkling that the danger was great."

Assistant District Attorney Garvan stated that he had been advised by counsel for the company that it would be conceded that no new life preservers had been purchased for the Slocum since 1897.

President Barnaby was recalled and reminded of his testimony on the first day of the inquest, when he stated that the life preservers shown on the five bills had been purchased for the Slocum and had gone aboard that boat.

"Do you now contend that all these life preservers went aboard the Slocum?"

"Some of them did."

"Don't you know that you could go down to the Grand Republic now and count the life preservers aboard her and find out what part of them went aboard the Slocum?"

The company's lawyers were on their feet protesting, but Mr. Garvan would not be interrupted.

All Found on Republic.

"Don't you know," he thundered, "that men from my office have been down there on the Grand Republic and counted every one of the 350 life preservers represented on those five bills?"

Mr. Garvan said he proposed to show that the witness had not acted in good faith and that he had tried to make it appear that the new preservers had been sent to the Slocum when they had not been.

Capt. Pease of the Grand Republic, who had charge of the equipment of the Slocum, said he did not know whether any of the life preservers were stuffed with bulrushes or not.

No trials of lowering the lifeboats had been made this year, he swore. He admitted that they had been slung on the decks all winter.

Capt. Pease stated that he did not believe any person could be good hoed at the rate of 16 cents a foot—the price paid for the Slocum's last consignment.

"A bill to secure the safety of steamships and steamboats was killed by the steamboat men in congress, after the commission of officers of the navy and treasury department, but the merchant marine interests, who thought that it would be cheaper to stand the occasional losses of life and accidents than to spend the money for the reforms we advocated, killed the bill."

This statement was made today by Rear Admiral George W. Melville (retired), who, when chief of engineers of the navy, called attention to the lax condition of affairs with regard to the inspection of steamboats and the like. Acting upon his suggestions the government appointed a commission to investigate the charges and they were verified in every detail.

Other evidence, mostly cumulative, was taken.

The total number of bodies found up to tonight is 833, of whom 778 have been identified.

MAYOR HAYS REFUSED TO PERFORM THE CEREMONY

Chief Executive Objected to Tying Nuptial Knot Because Names of Man and Woman Were Unpronounceable—Married by Alderman.

Mayor Hays has decreed that he will not perform any more marriage ceremonies. The mayor tied one nuptial knot several months ago and did not enjoy the experience, and refuses to go through it again. About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon a couple appeared at the mayor's office in city hall and asked to be wedded by the chief executive of the city. The girl was a very pretty brunette and handsomely dressed. She was about 22 years of age. The would-be-groom was a tall, broad-shouldered fellow, whose erectness and bearing indicated that he had seen military service.

The names of both the girl and man were almost unpronounceable, and this fact made the mayor all the more determined not to officiate. The couple were accompanied by the girl's mother. The couple gave their names to the mayor's clerk as follows: Paul von Leibeczsky, 827 Grandview avenue, and Mary Helsterkamp, 10 Southern avenue. Mayor Hays was talking to Director Bigelow. Councilman A. H. Leslie and a couple of newspaper men, when the clerk brought in the names of the couple and stated their mission.

"Send them away," said the mayor.

Bigelow, Leslie and the others urged the mayor to change his mind, but when his attention was called to the names of the couple the mayor put his foot down hard.

"You go and do what I told you," he shouted angrily to the clerk.

The clerk obeyed and informed the couple of the mayor's refusal to perform the ceremony.

The couple were badly disappointed, particularly the mother of the girl, who explained that it was her desire to have her daughter married in a civil ceremony and by the chief officer of the city. Councilman Leslie directed them to Alderman Groetzinger's office, in Diamond street. There they succeeded in having the ceremony performed in less time than it took the mayor to refuse them.

PERDICARIS ALIVE OR RAISULI DEAD

That Is Demand Secretary Hay Has Made Upon Sultan of Morocco.

LATTER NOT PLAYING FAIR

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22.

"Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead," is the demand Secretary Hay has made upon the sultan of Morocco.

The ruler is in high disfavor now with the Washington government. Rear Admiral Chadwick, commanding the American naval forces at Tangier, has cabled that the negotiations for the release of Ion Perdicaris and his British stepson, Cromwell Varley, are not progressing satisfactorily. They are still held captive and one obstacle replaces another in the way of successful exchange of the ransom for their liberty.

Secretary Hay, suspecting, as does Admiral Chadwick, that the sultan is not acting in good faith, decided not to mince words. He instructed Consul Gummer at Tangier to inform the sultan that the United States wanted "Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead," and that without too much delay. The continued presence of the American fleet is a sort of "nuf ced" addition to this curt message.

Admiral Chadwick makes no mention of holding a force in readiness to land. On the contrary, he advises against any forcible demonstration at this moment. He evidently believes such action would only increase the prevailing unrest there. It is supposed the sultan's laxity is due to some political intrigues. It was never intended to send the battleship squadron now enroute for Piraeus to Tangier.

LONDON, June 23.—In a dispatch sent at 9 o'clock last night the Tangier correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says there is another hitch in the negotiations with the Morocco bandit, and orders for sending forward the prisoners have been countermanded, Raisuli has demanded another province. A dispatch filed earlier on Wednesday evening said: "Unless some fresh difficulty arises the prisoners, whose release was demanded by Raisuli, will leave town tonight. Muley Achmed, son of the late sheriff of Wazan, who has been acting as intermediary here, is expected to accompany the party. The prisoners number 43, and have been brought from various parts of the country.

"The convoy will take a ransom of $70,000. At Raisuli's request, $20,000 will be in specie, requiring about half a dozen mules. The remaining $50,000 is taken in the form of a check on the Comptoir D'Escompte, drawn by the Moorish government.

"Diplomatic people have been disappointed so often that they will not persuade themselves that the end of the business is so near. I understand that Mr. Perdicaris will be brought to his town house, where his wife is still in bed suffering from the gentlemanly treatment of the polite brigand's men when the capture was made."

SWALLOW TALKS.

Harrisburg Preacher Suggests Discontinuance of Revenue on Strong Drink.

HARRISBURG, PA., June 22.—(Special.)—The Rev. Dr. Silas C. Swallow of this city, the probable Prohibition nominee for president, will not attend next week's national convention. Dr. Swallow is a delegate-at-law and he intended to be present at the convention, but his wife was recently taken ill and he has decided to stay at home.

Swallow has mailed a circular letter to 200 Democratic leaders throughout the country, including Bryan, suggesting that a plank be introduced in the St. Louis platform favoring "a dissolution of the partnership now existing through revenue between the government and the liquor traffic."

"This," he adds, "would deprive the traffic of the protection of the government always implied in taxation and leave it to fight the battles unaided by the bribery it now brings to the public conscience through its revenues."

AMERICAN STEEL FOUNDRIES AGAIN LISTED ON EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, June 22.—The governing committee of the stock exchange today readmitted to its listing department the preferred and common shares of the American Steel Foundries Company to the amount of $15,500,000 each. The securities of this company were stricken from the list early in the year because of an alleged discrepancy of $500,000 in the financial statements as submitted to the stock exchange. Within the last few months numerous changes have occurred in the directory and officers of the company and its latest statement as to its financial condition has been accepted as satisfactory by the exchange.

EMBALMED FOOD HAS BAD EFFECT

Department of Agriculture Reports on Experiments Made on Its Poison Squad.

INJURY TO BODY AND MIND

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Results obtained from the experiments made by the department of agriculture with a view to ascertaining the effects of boric acid and borax as preservatives in the human system are announced in a report issued by the department. The report embodies data obtained from the prolonged tests made with volunteer employes who constituted the so-called diet kitchen or "poison squad." The report announces that even in doses not exceeding a half gram (7½ grains) a day these preservatives are prejudicial to the health when consumed for a long time.

No patent effects, it says, are produced on persons of good health by the occasion use in small quantities, but the young, the debilitated and the sick, it adds, are not to be forgotten and the safe rule is to exclude these preservatives from foods for general consumption.

They tend to create a dislike for the food in which they are found, due more largely to the mental attitude than to any bad taste. If continued for a long time in quantities not exceeding a half gram per day they cause occasional periods of loss of appetite, bad feeling, fulness in the head and distress in the stomach. If given in larger and increasing doses these symptoms are more rapidly developed and accentuated, with a slight clouding of the mental processes. When increased to three grams a day the doses sometimes cause nausea and vomiting. There is but little apparent disturbance in the process of digestion or assimilation. The administration of the preservatives, the report says, tends to diminish slightly the weight of the body.

The general conclusion is reached that it is not advisable to use borax in food articles intended for common and continuous use. At all events, adds the report, the quantity and character of the preservatives used should be plainly marked.

BAITING HOOKS FOR COL. GUFFEY

Pennsylvania Democratic Leader in New York, but Is Silent as Ever.

MACK TALKS ABOUT PARKER

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, June 22.

Col. James M. Guffey, the Pennsylvania leader, is again in this city, but remains silent as to the stand his delegation will take at St. Louis. Both sides are still trying to capture him, but all he will say is that his state will vote for the man considered the strongest at St. Louis. His arrival at a time when William J. Bryan was in the city led to the report that he and Bryan had met. Nothing could be learned in confirmation of this report.

Mr. Bryan still believes Parker will be defeated at St. Louis. Since his speech at Cooper Union the anti-Parker men feel more confident. Judge Seabury had a conference with him, and it was agreed that 25,000 copies of the protest at Cooper Union shall be printed for distribution in St. Louis. Judge Seabury will head the committee of 25 which will convey the protest to the national convention. He is now selecting the other 24. He will choose only men who will go, and has engaged quarters for the party at the Planters hotel, in the convention city. It is said 50 or 60 more anti-Parker men will join the delegation.

Norman E. Mack, New York member of the Democratic national committee, arrived today from a trip through the south. He brings back tidings of good cheer for the Parker boomers.

"The whole south is ablaze with Parker enthusiasm," said Mr. Mack at the Hoffman house, where he met J. W. Head of Tennessee, the national committeeman from that state.

"I have been all through the south since I left two weeks ago, and everywhere they are talking Parker. Of course, some of the southern states did not instruct for him as there is a prejudice in that section against instructed delegates, but Parker will get the votes. No other candidate is seriously mentioned. His nomination is now a foregone conclusion. I think he will be chosen on the second ballot."

WILL REPORT TO POLICE.

Junk Dealers to Submit Their Dealings to City Officers.

Junk dealers like the pawnbrokers, are to make a daily report to the police bureau of the articles they buy each day and the persons they purchase from. This is done to aid the police in tracing stolen articles. Large quantities of stolen brass, tin and lead are often sold to junk dealers. Heretofore the dealer was not required to learn where the junk came from or the name of the person who offered it for sale.

SOCIETY WRECKED HER LIFE.

In Society.

A woman in society is obliged to keep late hours. She must attend receptions and balls. She seldom allows herself a quiet evening at home. Her whole time is taken up in keeping engagements or entertaining in her own home.

Her system becomes completely run down as a consequence. She soon finds herself in a condition known as systemic catarrh. This has also been called catarrhal nervousness.

If every society woman could know the value of Peruna at such a time, if they could realize the invigorating, strengthening effect that Peruna would have, how much misery could be avoided.

Letters from society women all over the United States testify to the fact that Peruna is the tonic for a run down, depleted nervous system.

Mrs. J. E. Finn, 83 East High street, Buffalo, N. Y., writes:

Gentlemen—"A few years ago I had to give up social life entirely, as my health was completely broken down. The doctor advised a complete rest for a year. As this was out of the question for a time, I began to look for some other means of restoring my health.

"I had often heard of Peruna as an excellent tonic, so I bought a bottle to see what it would do for me, and it certainly took hold of my system and rejuvenated me, and in less than two months I was in perfect health, and now when I feel worn out or tired a dose or two of Peruna is all that I need."—Mrs. J. E. Finn.

Mrs. J. W. Reynolds, Elkton, O., writes:

"I owe my health and life to Peruna. We rarely call in a physician, in fact it has been years since I have taken any other medicine than yours. I am afraid of drugs, and although I have seen sick many times I have taken only your medicines. They are wonderful indeed. We have a very large house and entertain a great deal and I do all my own work, thanks to Peruna."—Mrs. J. W. Reynolds.

MAN STRANGLES HIMSELF TO DEATH

OTHER DEATHS BY VIOLENCE

Despondent over ill health, Elmer Johnson, aged 23, committed suicide last night in his boarding house in Mills avenue, Braddock, by hanging himself to a door in the dining room. He had been melancholy for a month. Yesterday his brother Carl left Braddock for Connecticut. About a month ago three other brothers left Braddock for Sweden. After leaving his brother Carl, he went to his boarding house and, fastening a rope to the top of a door, he placed the other end about his neck. He raised his legs from the floor and slowly strangled to death. He was found by Andrew Carlson, with whom he boarded. Johnson was a mill worker.

The death of Martina Elsaher, aged 50, of Marmar street, Wilkinsburg, at 6 o'clock yesterday evening, was reported to the coroner. Heart disease caused death.

Matthew Riley, a railroad conductor, 42 years old, of 250 Catron street, died yesterday of heart disease. He had been ill for several days and at noon yesterday, after eating a lunch, lay down on a lounge to sleep. When his wife went to wake him, at 6 o'clock, she found him dead.

Michael Ziskaskewich, 23 years old, who lived at 113 Forty-seventh street, died yesterday at Mercy hospital from lockjaw, caused by an accidental gun shot wound on his hand, inflicted on Decoration day. He was admitted to the hospital on June 16.

GIVES UP HIS CHARGE.

The Rev. R. H. Hood Forced to Resign on Account of Ill Health.

The Rev. Robert H. Hood, pastor of the Mt. Washington United Presbyterian church, notified his congregation last night of his resignation, which will be presented to the Monongahela presbytery at its meeting at Mt. Lebanon next Tuesday. The congregation received the news with much regret and sought to persuade the pastor from giving up his charge. Mr. Hood stated that he was resigning on account of ill health, and his members proposed that, instead of his leaving the church permanently, he take a vacation of six months or a year.

The pastor expressed his appreciation of this offer, but said he did not think it would be wise either for the church or himself. The congregation then reluctantly acquiesced and will join Mr. Hood in a request to presbytery to dissolve the pastoral relationship. Mr. Hood said that his resignation would take effect in July, and that he had no plans for the future, except to take a trip to the Adirondack mountains this summer. He will return to Pittsburgh in September and will then decide whether he will retain his residence in Pittsburgh.

He has been pastor of the Mt. Washington church for 13 years, coming from Peters Creek. Chartiers presbytery, which was his first decree. He was graduated 20 years ago from the Allegheny Theological seminary. He is a native of Indiana county and a graduate of Westminster college.

HUMP REPORT TOMORROW.

Committee of Chamber of Commerce Will Present Estimates.

The special committee of the chamber of commerce which was appointed to learn the cost of removing the hump will make its report at a special meeting of the board of directors tomorrow. Members of the committee refuse to reveal the contents of the report.

Chairman William H. Stevenson states that the delay in completing the report was due to the fact that the city officials, after promising to aid the committee, later refused to give out any information whatever. The committee has employed engineers to estimate the total cost of the contemplated improvement and their report will be embodied in that of the committee.

PERFORMERS OPEN LABOR CARNIVAL

The Big Show to Be Run on Co-Operative Plan Until Saturday.

LARGE CROWDS ATTENDING

The United Labor League Carnival at Recreation park, Allegheny, is open again and the attendance last night indicated that the big show can be successfully carried on until Saturday night, as was first intended. John S. Berger, who started to manage the carnival and who disappeared after the Monday night performance, is still in town, but is no longer recognized as having anything to do with the affair.

Like a barn-storming company of actors stranded in a remote town of no considerable size, the performers engaged by Berger started last night to run the carnival on the co-operative plan. The price of admission to the big aerodrome has been cut from 50 cents to 10 cents, and will continue thus until the end of the week. Every man, woman and child in the big company is working for himself or herself, as each realizes that the proceeds at the end of the week are to be divided equitably. They are running the show themselves and taking a personal interest that was not evident before last night. No one in particular is recognized as the manager, and although the Labor league committee is on the grounds, the members are in no way assuming any responsibilities, but are simply lending their assistance to the performers.

Thomas M. Blackburn, secretary of the carnival commitee of the Labor league, was about the grounds last night, but was asserting no authority.

"We decided today that the best way to get out of this scrape without discredit to the Labor league was to allow the performers to carry on their own show," he said. "From the looks of things, they are going to be successful. Not since the carnival opened have I seen such enthusiasm as is manifested tonight among the people in the big show. It's a case of every man for himself, and they seem to realize this. They are all working like beavers and seem grateful for this opportunity to get out of a tight place."

The band not only paraded through the grounds before the opening of the big aerodrome, but got out into the street, accompanied by a squad of lusty-voiced "barkers," who brought large crowds into the grounds. Performers in fantastic costumes sold tickets for the aerodrome or mingled with the big crowds, spying out the merits of the big show. The cut in price seemed pleasing to the public and almost all who entered the grounds paid the extra 10 cents to get into the aerodrome.

It is not the intention of the labor committee to take any part of the profits of the show. The money is to go entirely to the performers, and those to whom Berger owes money for merchandise or labor will have to go to him for settlement. Two performances will be given today.

He had made all his arrangements to retire from sea life at the close of this season.

FREMONT, NEB., June 22.—The resolution introduced by Senator Allen at the Populist state convention last night is generally admitted to favor fusion with the Democratic national ticket should William J. HOT BLASTS FROM SPEAKER CANNON in a while who do not want any parties. As long as you have 80,000,000 people competent for self-government they will organize and will call the organization a party. The Republican party, born of the declaration that slavery is sectional and freedom national (applause) achieved its first success in 1800 with Abraham Lincoln. (Applause.) Secession, the war of the Union; you older men recollect it well. We have one of the survivors here. I was glad to see the convention give him the courtesies of the convention. He helped to make it possible that we could have this convention. (Applause).

Comparison and Facts.

Forty years ago, just about now, 1864, what a contrast. A divided country, a bankrupt treasury, no credit. The Republican party got power under its great leadership, wrote revenue legislation upon the statute books and went back to the principles of Washington and Hamilton and legislation that would produce revenue, while fixing duties upon imports was so adjusted as to encourage every American citizen to take part in the diversified industries and resources of the country.

Will you bear with me for five minutes while I speak of the comparison as it was then upon the one hand of facts and the condition today? In 1860 we had the scheme of the democratic party for many years by the free trade party, insignificant in manufacture, great in agriculture. Under our policy, which has been followed with the exception of four years, from that time to this, the United States remains first in agriculture, but by leaps and bounds has diversified her industries, until today we are the greatest manufacturing country on God's footstool. One-third of all the world's products that come from the factory are made in the United States by the operation and cooperation of American capital and American labor and skill.

Let me make one other statement. Our product every year is greater than the entire combined manufactured product of Great Britain, of Germany and of France. Where do we get the market for it? Ninety-seven per cent of this great product—one-third of the world's product—finds a market among ourselves in the United States. And yet, of this product last year, we sold to foreign countries—I am speaking now of the manufactured product—over $400,000,000—79 per cent of our total exports, and our total exports made and make up the greatest exporting nation on earth. (Applause).

Made by labor? Yes, made by labor that works less hours than any labor on earth. Made by labor that, conservatively stated, receives $1 75 as against the average competitive labor in the world of $1. (Applause).

Toilers Make the Markets.

Oh, gentlemen, it is not rich men that make markets. Nay, nay. It is the multiplied millions on farm, in mine and in factory, that work today and consume tomorrow, and with steady work, fair wages and good wages, as with 80,000,000 of people, a market equal to 200,000,000 of consuming people anywhere else on earth. The farmer buys the artisan's product, the latter the farmer employed, buys the farmer's products. The wheels go around. You cannot strike one great branch of labor in the republic without the blow reacting on all the producers. Well, are you satisfied with the comparison from the manufacturing standpoint? If not, let me give you another illustration that will perhaps go home to the minds and more quickly than the illustration I have given.

Take the postoffice department, that reaches all of the people and no man is compelled to pay one penny. It is voluntary taxation. From March, 1860, the year that Lincoln came into power to March, 1861, in that 12 months the total revenue of the postoffice department in all the United States was $8,500,000. Keep that in your minds—$8,500,000. How much do you suppose it cost to run the department? Nineteen million. It took all the revenue and as much more, and one-quarter as much more from the treasury to pay for that postal service. Why, gentlemen, the city postoffice of Chicago last year collected more revenue by almost $1,000,000 than was collected by the whole department in the United States in 1860. (Applause.)

How is it now. We have reduced postage over one-half since 1860, on the average. Last year the postal revenues were $121,000,000 against $8,000,000 in 1860. Keep that in your mind—$121,000,000. And the whole service only cost $128,000,000. We had a deficit of $4,000,000—$4,000,000 we owe and we have had that deficit had it not been that under the lead of the Republican party, looking out for the welfare of all the people and conducting the government from a business standpoint, under the lead of McKinley, followed by Roosevelt, there was established rural free delivery that cost $10,000,000. (Applause.)

Great heavens! The Republican party from 1860 until this moment moves on, does what good common sense dictates, and the country grows to it. Well, now I will drop that department. The Republican party is a national party and believes in diversification of our industries and in the protection of American capital and American labor, as against the cheaper labor elsewhere on earth. (Applause.)

Still a Free Trade Party.

What do the other people believe? For 60 years went out the cry of free trade throughout the world; free ships upon the sea, no other questions, a tariff for revenue only. The free trade party has always denounced the Republican policy of protection as robbery, and whenever clothed with power, whatever its pretenses, it has thrust a dagger into the very heart of protection.

Oh, well, are not they going to change? Let us see. Only before the close of the last congress New York's eloquent Bourke Cockran, a member of the house of representatives, got the floor and he preached an old-fashioned Democratic sermon, free trade and all that kind of thing, and he did it well. And there came from the minority side of that house without exception such cheering and crying and hurraking and applauding as I never witnessed before in that house of representatives, because at last they had the pure Democratic faith delivered to them.

They are trying to do what? Trying to convince the people that they ought to come into power under the lead of Gorman of the senate and Williams of the house. They have been trying to give the country Dover's powders. (Laughter).

Oh, send a distinguished colleague, following the astute Senator Gorman, "If we come into power, while protection is robbery, we will say to you that we will journey in the direction of free trade, but we will go very, very cautiously, very slowly at night. Great God! Think of it; they won't kill you outright, but they will starve you to death day by day. (Laughter and applause.)

They want to be put on guard to protect the people who are dwelling in peace and prosperity under a Republican policy. It reminds me of the Fables of Aesop. You know the records in one of his fables that the wolves said to the sheep "Discharge the dogs"—who were their natural protectors—"and employ us, and we will take care of you." (Laughter and applause.)

Republicans Must Lead.

Does the capital of this country and the labor of this country want to go under the care of Wolf Gorman and Wolf Williams and their fellows? I think not. What a country this is and, Republicans, we have got to continue its policy and lead the people in caring for it.

Why, we are like the women. We not only have to take care of ourselves, but more as one of our women said, we have to take care of the babies. (Laughter and applause.) The Republican party not only has to care for itself, but has to care for the minority by a wise policy. How it has been doing it. We presented the union under the policy and leadership of this party. Do you recollect that the opposition party on a demand for an armistice and negotiation and compromise nominated McClellan in 1864 and moved heaven and earth to defeat Lincoln? Do you recollect when the constitutional amendments were submitted they said nay, nay, and then after they were adopted the Democrats came into power in Indiana and Ohio, and they passed acts taking back the assent of the states? When the first battle was fought against greenback or fiat money back in the seventies, out in the middle west, whatever they were on the Atlantic coast they were flatists in the west. From step to step through all these 40 years, where, if you measure time by advance, we have lived two centuries as compared with any other period of the world's history, they have pulled back, pulled back, pulled back. We accomplish by capital and American labor, as against the cheaper labor elsewhere on earth. (Applause.)

LOCAL COMPOSER WINS FINE PRIZE

Chevalier Ferrata Gets Second Place in Opera Competition in Milan, Italy.

HIS CAREER IS ROMANTIC

Chevalier Giuseppe Ferrata, a young Italian composer, who for the last two years has made his home in Beaver, Pa., has been awarded the second prize in the Sonzogno opera competition in Milan, Italy, and will sail this week to claim his new honor. Chevalier Ferrata's composition is a one-act grand opera, entitled "Fuoruscito" ("The Exile"), and won distinction for its composer among 236 other operas entered in the competition, some of the most famous composers of Europe being the competitors.

Bearing the decorations of the king of Portugal and the royal household of Italy, together with the testimonials of some of the world's greatest masters of harmony, Dr. Ferrata made a romantic journey to America and chose the comparative solitude of his quiet home in Beaver to carry out the tasks imposed by his inspiration. Here, undisturbed by the glamor of social life in the great musical centers, he worked on indefatigably, and during his sojourn here has done some of his most notable compositions. He will return to Beaver before the end of the summer and continue his work as director of music of Beaver college.

Nephew of Cardinal Ferrata.

Dr. Ferrata is a nephew of Cardinal Ferrata. He was a native of Rome and was an early student under Liszt. When 26 years of age he won distinction as a composer. Today the walls of his home in Beaver are covered with testimonials, many of which were given him before he had attained his majority and before he dreamed of his journey across the sea where he was to find still greater laurels —and a bride. Among these the one most prized is the letter from King Jose of Portugal conferring the knighthood of the Royal Portugese Order of Our Lord Jesus Christ. This and the letter given the young composer when he was scarcely 19 years of age. The letter exhibits all the peculiar perfunctory diction of court correspondence. Translated, it is as follows:

I, the king of Portugal and of the Algarves, etc., etc., send to you much greetings.

In view of the qualities united in your person and wishing to give you a public testimonial of my munificence, upon the proposal of the minister and secretary of state and foreign affairs, appoint you a knight of the Royal Portuguese Order of Our Lord Jesus Christ, and this I communicate to you for your intelligence and satisfaction and in order that you may use its respective insignia I send you this letter.

Written in the Paz d'Adjuda this 24th day of February, 1887.

THE KING, JOSE LUGIANO DE CAETZ.

Gold Ring Set With Diamonds.

The insignia is a heavy gold ring mounted with the shield and crown, set with 12 half-karat diamonds. Among the complimentary letters which Chevalier Ferrata has received is one from Victor Herbert praising a recent opera. At the age of 16 he was selected among the pupils of the Royal Academy of Music, Rome, to play at a concert given in the presence of Queen Margherita. To enumerate the prizes he has won would fill a column.

At the close of his student days Chevalier Ferrata went to Paris to visit an uncle, to the French capital he pursued his work in musical composition and made an extended acquaintance among celebrated musicians there. The young composer had now grown to manhood and was urged to visit America, his elders telling him that foreign travel would broaden his faculties and better equip him for the physical effort which his lifework would require. He was also told by his uncle that a bride would be picked out for him on his return.

Chevalier Ferrata, however looked with little favor on outside matchmaking. He came to Baltimore with letters to Cardinal Gibbons and soon afterward entered Mt. St. Mary college, where he met his future wife, while dining at the residence of a member of the faculty of the school.

Married by Cardinal Gibbons.

While courting his sweetheart he learned the English language and was one of the instructors in the school. In the meanwhile he did not divulge the romance of his travels to his relatives in the old world. When he went to Cardinal Gibbons to have the marriage performed his eminence demurred. The cardinal had been warned of a previous arrangement. But the chevalier was not to be baffled and advanced his arguments with enthusiasm.

"You were a gentleman before a cardinal," he declared.

The cardinal finally changed his mind and the wedding was performed. Some time afterward the chevalier took his bride to Rome and won the good-will and the blessing of his family.

One of Chevalier Ferratas recent prizes which he will personally acknowledge in visiting Italy is the gold medal and first-class diploma won in the Palermo musical exposition last month. The prize-winning composition was a concerto in D minor for piano and orchestra and is declared to be one of his best works. On returning to America he will begin the composition of an opera, the libretto of which is to be written by a Pittsburgher.

The magistrate suspended sentence, as Neal promised to pay the physician's bills. The child's toes were cut off.

WIFE'S LAST WORD MAKES VALID WILL

Owners of Yellow Row Assert It Is Safe, and May Be Maintained Indefinitely.

CURIOSITIES OF BANKRUPTCY

Twenty minutes before she died in the West Penn hospital, on November 4, 1903, Mrs. Nettie F. Mahan told her nurse that she left her estate, valued at $18,000, to her husband, John P. Mahan, who was present, with the proviso that he divide it among their children at his death. The orphans' court decided yesterday that this constituted a valid will.

Yellow row was asserted to be safe, without signs of decay, and the intimation was given that it will be maintained indefinitely in its present condition by the owners, John Nicholson and others, in their answer to the suit of the city of Pittsburgh to have the row condemned.

Their combined debts are $1,790 57 and their assets $1,050 17, as follows: Leonard has no debts and $50 assets, Augusta has no debts and $47 assets, but Donatus' liabilities are $278 08, with assets of $48.

McCleary Resists Expulsion.

Smoky City Council No. 110, J. O. U. A. M., filed an answer to the suit brought by J. W. McCleary to restrain the organization from carrying out an order for his expulsion. The answer admits that the national judiciary ordered McCleary's expulsion and the council passed a resolution to that effect March 1, 1901. It is alleged that McCleary was trying to disrupt the order by passing resolutions of secession, talking and distributing circulars to the same effect and that the national judiciary met in December, 1900, McCleary being present, and ordered his expulsion. It is asserted that the proceedings were regular and that McCleary's status as a member depended on his obedience to the rules of the order.

Fleming's Rent Is Raised.

In the estate of Joseph Fleming the court advanced the rent paid by George S. Fleming $1,200. Under the will he was allowed the use of the Market street property at a reasonable sum. He has been paying $5,000, but this, some of the other heirs thought, was too low, in view of the increase in rents.

WESTINGHOUSE PEOPLE GET PARIS CONTRACT

Will Furnish Additional Generating Equipment for Issy Power House.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 22.—The Westinghouse interests have been awarded the contract, in face of the keenest competition, for the additional generating equipment to be installed in the Issy power house, which furnishes electric current to light the areas on the left side of the river Seine at Paris.

Four alternators of 600 kilowatts capacity each are to be installed in place of the original units, the latter being now too small to cope with the increased demand for energy. Each generating set will consist of one Westinghouse single phase alternator, 3,000 volts, 42 periods, directly connected to horizontal steam engines which can give out 800 horse power each. They will be put into service successively in order not to interfere with the working of the station. The exciting current for each unit will be furnished by a 25-kilowatt exciter, operating at 125 volts. Each alternator will be fitted with a special wheel weighing over seven tons. The spider will be cast in two pieces so that it may be mounted direct onto the shaft of the engine, without removing the bearings. When the extension is complete, the center aisle of the Issy station will contain 10 generating sets, having an aggregate capacity of 8,000 horse power.

One Westinghouse alternator was installed in October, 1903, on trial, and advices from Paris state that it is due to the perfect running of the machine that the contract has been placed for the equipment now ordered.

DEDICATION IS OBSERVED.

Services Were Held in Honor of Founding of Second Presbyterian Church.

Services celebrating the 44th anniversary of the dedication of the Second Presbyterian church were held in the lecture room of the church last evening. About 500 people were present. In an address the pastor, S. Edward Young, said:

"If we do as much in the next 44 years as those before us did in the past 44, we will have done ourselves great credit."

He reviewed the history of the church, mentioning the trials and hardships as well as devotion of the members and former pastors. He announced that the closing service in the present edifice, at Penn avenue and Seventh street, will be held Wednesday evening. Three persons were present last evening who attended the dedication services in 1860. The church building is to be torn down after July 3.

NEGROES TO HOLD AN EXPOSITION

Unique Additions Proposed to the Fair to Celebrate Virginia's Tercentennial.

ASK CONGRESS FOR $1,200,000

Giles B. Jackson, a colored attorney of Richmond, Va., is in the city in an effort to enlist financial aid in the furtherance of the Negro Development and Exposition Company of the United States, which purposes, in connection with the ter-centennial of the landing of English speaking people at Jamestown, Va., on May 13, 1607, to show the development of the negro race, the first of whom were brought to this country 13 years later. All states having a fair proportion of negro population are to have buildings where the achievements of the race in all lines commercial, literary and scientific, are to be displayed. These will be in addition to the ter-centennial exposition proper.

Already large sums of money have been contributed, and the whites of the south have been the most liberal contributors. This is the first northern city visited in the interest of the cause, and in all probability a permanent office will be established here to further the work. It is the intention of the negro exposition company to ask congress for an appropriation of $1,200,000. A petition already prepared prays for the appropriation of the $200,000, now lying in the treasury due the estates of deceased colored soldiers but unclaimed," and an additional million is asked "to benefit the whole colored race, which forms 10 per cent of the nation and to cement existing breaches with the whites." The petition also cites the Freedmen's bank case, wherein negro depositors lost $1,200,000 and were never reimbursed, notwithstanding that a bill to that effect has twice passed the United States senate.

Mr. Jackson has with him letters indorsing the proposition from ex-President Grover Cleveland, a score of United States senators and representatives, together with letters of encouragement from the governors of North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Oregon, Georgia, West Virginia, Michigan, Kentucky, California and South Carolina.

The officers of the negro exposition company are: President, John H. Smyth; vice president, W. Isaac Johnson; secretary, Robert Kelser; treasurer, R. T. Hill; sub-treasurer, Samuel Harris and director general, Giles B. Jackson. The capital stock is $500,000, to be subscribed to in shares of $10 each, and the Metropolitan bank, Richmond, is the depository.

THEME OF CLASS IS LONGFELLOW

Graduates of California, Pa., State Normal School Discard Old Fashioned Subjects.

OTHER EXERCISES ARE HELD

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CALIFORNIA, PA., June 22.—The commencement exercises at the state normal school here this morning were a novelty as compared with the stereotyped commencement program. They showed a distinct departure from the antiquated methods in which erudite college youth so confidently tackle the most abstruse metaphysical subjects and were charming in their simplicity. The novelty consisted in making the program what might be termed a Longfellow symposium, as follows:

"The Beginning of American Literature," Vann McMinn, Jefferson, Pa.; "Early Life of Longfellow," Alverda E. Hopwood, Uniontown; selections from "Hiawatha," Mary V. Lewis, California; "Longfellow at Cambridge," Albert Colmery, Braddock; "Longfellow's Home Life," O. Mae Tewell, Bedford; "The Story of Evangeline," Bessie A. Rees, Pittsburgh; "Robert of Sicily," Joseph Bell; "Longfellow as a Teacher of the People," Doris E. Clary. The musical numbers were of a high order as furnished by Miss Mary T. Noss of California, Miss Mary E. Bird of Groveton, Miss Helen Beeson of Ligonier and Miss Grace E. Moore of California, members of the graduating class, a chorus and Charles Fridley Morrison, Charles S. Conley and the musical department. The large chapel was not large enough to accommodate the throngs who sought admission.

Members of Graduating Class.

The members of the graduating class, as they marched slowly upon the stage arrayed in somber gowns and mortarboards and led by a stalwart six-footer, presented the appearance of typical collegians. The roster of the class follows:

DEMOCRATIC FACTIONS EVEN IN MINNESOTA CONVENTION

DULUTH, MINN., June 22.—The Hearst forces captured the temporary organization of the state Democratic convention for the selection of delegates to the national convention today, and it was expected that they would be strong enough to instruct the delegation for their candidate. But at a late hour tonight the anti-Hearst men secured three of the four delegates-at-large and will get an even break on the district delegates. The delegates-at-large are: John Lind of Minneapolis, L. A. Rosing of Cannon Falls, H. L. Buck of Winona and C. D. O'Brien of St. Paul. The resolutions declare for a reaffirmation of the Kansas City platform and laud William J. Bryan as the greatest Democratic statesman of the day. It is believed the anti-Hearst men favor Parker, although they maintained they merely wanted an uninstructed delegation.

Upholds the Flinn Law.

WASHINGTON, PA., June 22.—(Special.)—The Washington county court today handed down an opinion, declaring that the contract let for the construction of country roads by the county commissioners under the provisions of the Flinn road law, were valid. This means that the score or more of miles of road on which work was stopped pending an opinion will be completed.

First Train on African Road.

CAPE TOWN, June 22.—The first through train for Victoria Falls, over the Cape to Cairo railroad, left Cape Town today amidst enthusiastic demonstrations.

MUTES SANG GRACEFULLY WITH HANDS AND ARMS

At the Closing Exercises of the Western Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf and Dumb Hundreds Witnessed a Most Unique Entertainment.

There has been no more graceful closing exercises than those of the Western Pennsylvania institution for the deaf and dumb at Edgewood, which took place yesterday. Not only did the seven graduates take part in the celebration, but many of the smaller children, and they spoke in sign language and sang songs with a swaying of the form and the arms that the finest Delsartean teacher could not have imitated. It was peculiar to see a graduate with his hands explain an essay on "The Russo-Japanese War." For the benefit of the 1,000 hearing and speaking people in the audience this had to be interpreted. The exercises took place in the chapel of the institution and the place was packed until some of the late comers had to stand or sit on window ledges.

Ten little boys dressed in blue and white marched to the platform and, to the music of the piano, went through the motions of a song known as "The Merry Sailor Lads." The boys could not hear the music, but they kept perfect time to the playing. "This is East and this West" was a sort of kindergarten song in which eight little girls went through the motions. "Columbia" was the patriotic hymn in which five girls took part. Miss Bertha Jackson outlined in sign language the words of the verses, while all took part in the chorus. Both in this and in the lullaby from "Erminie" one girl interpreted the words of the verse into sign language. In the lullaby it was Miss Annie Stugan. Nothing could be more graceful than the manner in which the waving arms and expressive fingers kept time to the piano playing and at the same time demonstrated the meaning to those conversant with the dumb language. Then in the choruses the entire party on the platform with swaying bodies and waving arms told the story to those without ears to hear.

The pupils for the various action songs and for the classes marched to and from the platform in military fashion, keeping their proper distance from each other and having a perfect alignment always. They kept step without hearing anything to give them the time, and when E. C. Austin, the teacher, spoke with his lips without uttering a sound, the pupils could hear the question seemingly and write the answers on blackboards. Altogether it was one of the most marvellous closings to a school term that anybody could expect to see.

John B. Jackson presented diplomas to seven of the girls and boys, and what he said was interpreted to them. The crowd of visitors went through the school after the exercises and saw some of the work of the pupils. The kindergarten pupils had made "doll mats," Tam o' Shanter caps by knitting and also much fine embroidery and a few large hammocks of netting. The boys had splendid carpentry work and shoemaking to show while the girls simply learned housekeeping and had little to exhibit for that except a well kept school. The entire institution was as clean as a whistle, which reflected credit on the matron, whom all the deaf mutes say is the best in the country, and on the principal, William N. Burt.

The graduates are: Margaretta Irene Bracken, Pittsburgh; Bertha Jackson, McKeesport; Sophia Mullen, Turtle Point, McKean county; Frank Berry, Anita, Jefferson county; McLeod M. Blair, Allegheny; Charles E. Sharpnack, Carmichaels, Greene county, and J. Charles Thompson, Monessen.

BRYAN'S DAY OF POWER GONE, SAYS WATTERSON

Marse Henry Scathingly Rebukes Ex-Leader of Democracy for New York Speech.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LOUISVILLE, KY., June 22.—Henry Watterson, in the Courier-Journal tomorrow, will pay his respects to Mr. Bryan for his New York speech, and in the course of a column and a half editorial, will say:

One would suppose that a party leader with any sense of dignity, having set his own house in order, would leave the houses of his friends to take care of themselves, but it is not the way of Mr. Bryan. Not content with the action of Nebraska, he is no sooner through with the business that detained him at Omaha than he hurries away to New York, hires a hall, assembles a rabble and assails the organized Democracy of the Empire State like any Republican, or Populist, or other enemy, though no one has impeached the regularity of the orthodoxy of New York Democracy, whilst their preference for president, Judge Alton Brooks Parker, is an eminent and life-long Democrat who supported Mr. Bryan both in 1896 and 1900.

There can be no mistaking the meaning of such demonstrations. They ought to make it plain to Democrats everywhere that Mr. Bryan means mischief, and only mischief. He goes to St. Louis to stir up a strife. It can no longer be doubted that what Mr. Bryan aims at is a divided Democracy. What he seeks is the defeat of its ticket. Where he has failed, he has resolved that none other shall win. If another stood in Judge Parker's shoes, that other would invite Mr. Bryan's resentment. Hill is but a red rag to a mad bull. Belmont is but a figurehead of speech. But Mr. Bryan will find before the end of the charter that he has both over-estimated his powers and over-reached himself. He may make a scene in the convention, nothing more. If he bolts, his bolt will lose the Democrats no state that they have and help them gain some states they need.

Mr. Bryan may go on making money. He may keep himself alive as an agitator, but the day of his power to wreck and ruin the unterrified and undefiled Democracy of the United States is over.

BUTLER LIQUOR DEALERS FACE STRONG EVIDENCE

Fear No Licenses Will Be Granted Owing to Activity of Opponents.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUTLER, PA., June 22.—Few applications for hotel licenses in this borough were heard today because of the mass of evidence offered. Those of J. A. Klein of the Hotel Willard, D. F. McCrea of the Hotel Butler, Capt. Herman Liebold of the Hotel Arlington, C. H. and H. B. King of the Hotel Lowry and Earl Clinton of the Standard hotel, were disposed of.

Against all of them the Rev. George E. Enterline and N. C. Starkey, a detective employed by the anti-saloon league, had made affidavits of violations of the liquor laws. Starkey, T. W. Esh, who is also a detective; Harr Delhoody, Alexander Coram, James Clarrick and others appeared in nearly every case and told of liquor sold to minors, to men of known intemperate habits, and to men visibly intoxicated, after closing hours and other violations. In the Liebold case this evidence was objected to and Judge Galbreath ordered the district attorney to have all the charges investigated by the next grand jury. Detective Starkey swore he saw a Salvation army "lassie," who was selling papers, grossly insulted in the Hotel Lowry bar and that men drank and played cards in a back room until late at night. The liquor men fear no licenses will be granted.

Va., no one was seriously hurt, the worst injuries being bumps and scratches to half a dozen. The smoker was overturned and the baggage car partially so.

Among the injured were: George Panonssos, San Francisco, Cal., abrasion on left knee and shin; John A. Long, Georgetown, Pa., contusion of right hip and leg; William Foley, Columbus (O.) barracks, contusion on back and abrasion on right leg over shin; M. TROUBLE FOR SCHWAB.

New York Woman Institutes Another Suit Against Shipbuilding Company.

TRENTON, N. J., June 22.—Ida E. Wood of New York, a holder of $200,000 par value of the bonds of the United States Shipbuilding Company, today instituted proceedings in the United States circuit court for the purpose of having herself admitted as a party defendant to the suit brought by the Mercantile Trust Company of New York, as trustee, to foreclose a $16,000,000 mortgage on the properties of the shipbuilding company.

Judge Lanning made an order to show cause returnable in this city on next Tuesday.

The petitioner attacked the proposed plan of reorganization and says it is designed in the interest of Charles M. Schwab and others who were the promoters of the shipbuilding syndicate.

LT. M'CONNEL'S FUNERAL OCCURS AT BEAVER, PA.

Impressive Services for U. S. Marine Officer at the Residence of His Father.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BEAVER, PA., June 22.—Impressive funeral services over the remains of First Lieutenant Richard G. McConnel of the United States marine corps, were held this afternoon at the residence of his father, Capt. William P. McConnel of Third street, Beaver. The services were in charge of the Rev. Dr. Appleton Bash, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Beaver. The chief address was made by the Rev. Paul Weyand, pastor of the Knoxville Methodist Episcopal church of Pittsburgh, who was an intimate friend and a member of the same class in the Beaver High school. Appropriate music was furnished by a quartet consisting of Mrs. Jessie McGrew, Miss Bessie Morse, Mr. Wilber Harris and Prof. Mark C. Baker.

Lieut McConnel was appointed to the naval academy at Annapolis in 1892 and served on the cruiser Leonidas, during the Spanish-American war. Since then he had been on the Kearsarge and for several months on the Atlanta of the South Atlantic squadron. The casket was draped with the American flag and Lieut. McConnel was dressed in the uniform of the United States service with his sword. He is survived by his father, Capt. William P. McConnel, for many years secretary of Gray's Iron Line at Pittsburgh, and later of the Beaver Valley Traction Company; by Miss Laura McConnel, A. S. McConnel of Washington, D. C.; Miss Jessie McConnel, a kindergarten teacher in Allen school, Beltzhoover, Pittsburgh; Dr. Paul McConnel of New Sheffield, Pa.; William A. McConnel, attorney at law, Beaver, and Charles A. McConnel.

Lieut. McConnel lacked but a few numbers in the line of being made a captain and the navy department had given him to understand that in the coming July he was to be advanced to the rank of captain. Lieut. McConnel's record at Annapolis and in the marine corps was an enviable one, and in Beaver county, where the family is one of the best-known, he was extremely popular among all classes.

PARKER IS TURNED DOWN.

Vermont Democrats Vociferous in Their Refusal to Indorse New Yorker for Presidency.

BURLINGTON, VT., June 22.—The state Democratic convention today elected an uninstructed delegation to the St. Louis convention. The platform criticizes the national administration, denounces trusts and declares for tariff for revenue only.

The convention was thrown into an uproar by a motion offered by Mayor Burke of this city to instruct the national delegates for Judge Parker. The mayor was barely able to finish offering the motion on account of the cries of "No, No," and the general confusion, and later, when he tried to withdraw it, the chair refused to recognize him. The motion finally was voted down by a large majority.

The following state ticket was nominated: Governor, Eli H. Porter of Wilmington; lieutenant governor, C. L. McMahon, Stowe; treasurer, A. J. Sibley, Montpelier; secretary of state, C. D. Watson, St. Albans; auditor, J. E. Walsh, Pittsford.

LEAGUE GAMES TODAY.

St. Louis at Exposition Park.
Philadelphia at Brooklyn.
New York at Boston.

The first act of President Dreyfuss, on his return from St. Louis yesterday, was to serve notice of release on Pitcher William D. Scanlon, who was secured last season from the Ilion club of the New York State league. The Pirates had to make a battle for the services of Scanlon, and it was thought he would develop into a star, but that turned out to be a hollow dream.

The trouble with the Syracuse lad was his failure to get control, which was something of a surprise, as he was the steadiest pitcher in the New York State league last season. When Scanlon was secured a big fuss was made over him, and there was a long dispute as to whether he was not a better twirler than Ames, who was secured from the same team by the New York club. This pair were pitted against each other in a game last fall, and, although the New Yorker won, Scanlon's work was such as to lead to the impression that he was a coming star. It is singular that Scanlon and Ames are both out of it, one having a lame arm and the other failing to make good. Scanlon goes to an independent team at Plattsburg, N. Y., for which point he left last night.

The Pittsburgh team arrived from St. Louis at 3:15 yesterday afternoon in a special car. In the party were President Dreyfuss, Manager Clarke, Secretary Locke, Walter G. Smith, Beaumont, Sebring, Bransfield, Ritchey, Leach, Seaver, Harry Smith, Lynch, Miller, Camnitz, Phelps, Ernest Diehl and Trainer La Force. Wagner and Flaherty got off at Carnegie.

The champions returned in the first division after playing four games with the Cardinals on their own grounds. They were satisfied with the result, but declared that they should have won the first game last Sunday, in which they scored three runs against Jack Taylor in the first inning and failed to reach the plate afterward.

The long series with the Cardinals will end Friday. Since the teams returned from the west six games have been played, and each club has captured three. If St. Louis wins today and tomorrow it will be even on the series, and that is what the Pirates hope to prevent.

Sam Leever, who is rated as a good judge, says that Lynch will be a great help to the club. All the other players agree with the schoolmaster. Both the catchers had a chance to watch the collegian work, for Harry Smith went behind the bat when Eddie Phelps hurt his finger. The catchers speak highly of the new man. They say he has great speed and will control it with a little practice. Phelps was not badly hurt and will not be out of the game more than a day or two.

The St. Louis team is due early this morning and will likely use Jack Taylor this afternoon. It was reported to catch two games against Pittsburgh at St. Louis, and the Pirates, who heard that he made the request, would like to humble him. They admit, however, that this is not an easy task, as Taylor is one of the best twirlers in the league.

Ernest Diehl, the Cincinnati boy who helps the Pirates out when the team is crippled, but who, owing to business reasons, will not play professional ball, arrived with the team and will remain until the arrival of Stankard, who is expected on Sunday or Monday. The club officials have heard nothing from Dan Paul Kruger since he went to his home in Chicago last week, but it is expected that he will be ready to play by next week.

Quakers Won a Fine Battle.

Wiltse Was Wild, but Won.

BOSTON, June 22.—New York won from Boston today 10 to 1. The outfielders had few (stun) chances, but the infielders, particularly Abbattichio, Delehanty and Tenney, handled an unusual number of plays, many of them difficult. Wiltse was batted freely. Wiltse was wild, but effective. Score:

PITTSBURGH COLLEGE TEAM WON THE GAME

Defeated St. Vincents Before Largest Crowd of Season. Collins Pitched Well.

In a game, the beauty of which was in part marred by the unreasonable kicking of the visitors, yesterday afternoon on the bluff Pittsburgh College team defeated St. Vincent's college team 5 to 1. A large crowd—the largest of the season—witnessed the contest, which has long been looked forward to with considerable interest on account of the intense rivalry existing between the two institutions.

Ike Collins did slab duty for the Bluffites and was in fine form, St. Vincent's connecting with his twisters for only four singles. The run marked up to the Westmoreland county boys was the result of two glaring errors in the first inning. Wilson was touched up at a lively rate, and, withal, the victory was an easy one for the Bluff boys. Keating's fielding was a feature. Score:

SOCIETY

CHRIST METHODIST EPISCOPAL church in Center avenue, Shadyside, was well filled with guests yesterday afternoon for the wedding of Miss Grace Watson Aull, daughter of Major and Mrs. William Ferris Aull, and Paul Arthur Sorg of Middletown, O. The ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Charles Mitchell of Cleveland, O., an uncle of the bride, assisted by the Rev. Daniel Dorchester, Jr., pastor of the church, was preceded by a musical program given by Everett F. Harrington, organist of the church. The wedding procession was unusually pretty, the maid of honor, Miss Ada Sorg, and the bridesmaids, Miss Jeannette Nicholson, Miss Carrie Rose, Miss Nellie Young Hay, Miss Edith Speer, Miss Margaret Chalfant, all of this city, Miss Florence Stewart of Erie, Pa.; Miss Clothilde McCullough of Brainard, Minn., and Miss Daisy Koen of Mannington, W. Va., entering the church at each side of the pulpit and proceeding down the side aisles in single file to the center, where they followed the ushers two by two to the altar. The bride was given away by her father, and George McHose of Dayton, O., served as best man. The ushers were Charles Aull, Lawrence Hartzell, J. Raymond Price, Albert Curry and Frank Shepard of this city, Edward Gardner of Middletown, O.; Frank Brown of Hallmeyer, Md., and Lieut. Pierre Drouillard of Nashville, Tenn.

Blue and white were the colors. The bride wore a gown of soft satin and rose point lace with full court train. The yoke was of lace which capped the shoulders. Her veil was gathered full on her head and was fastened with a garland of orange blossoms, while she carried a bouquet of white orchids. Her only ornament was a pearl necklace, the gift of the bridegroom. Miss Sorg wore a beautiful gown of white point appliqué over blue and her flowers were Kaiserine roses. A picturesque hat of white lace finished her toilet. The crown was surrounded by a wreath of forget-me-nots, and white satin ribbons caught in a large bow on top of the hat were tied loosly under the chin. The gown worn by the bridesmaids were particularly pretty and dainty. Made of very pale blue mousseline, they had yokes of Irish point lace. The elbow sleeves were puffed and shirred at the top and the skirts, cut with demi-trains, were accordeon plaited. Their hats were patterned after that worn by Miss Sorg, but in place of the flowers and white tieg there was only softly shaded blue ribbon in large graceful bows. They carried white sweet pea staffs with long loops of blue tulle ribbon. Mrs. Sorg was handsomely gowned in white lace, and Mrs. Aull wore white lace with a white plumed hat.

The church was beautifully decorated, a feature of the decorations being the arch of white peonies and gladiolae reaching from each of the end pews over the center aisle at the rear of the church. Wicker standards of phlox marked the pews and the pulpit, which was covered with ferns, was massed high with palms. At each side of the prie dieu was a tall pedestal of phlox, and white gladiolae formed a hedge around the outer edge immediately behind the railing. White roses and blue ribbon formed the center pieces on the tables for the supper, which followed at the home of the bride's parents in Fifth avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Sorg left during the evening for the east. They will return on Monday to be present at the wedding of Miss Jeanette Nicholson and J. Raymond Price on Tuesday. BORAXOLOGY

Do you remember the bright milk pans, the clean floors and the dazzling white clothes "down on the farm"? And do you remember the big barrel outside the house to catch the rain water, and that it was this rain water that was so precious for washing? We can't have a barrel outside our house here, but we can have a box of Borax inside the house. And when you put Borax in the water you turn it into rain water—make it soft. And that's why Borax doubles the cleansing power of soap and water. It should be used in every cleansing process of the home—in laundry, kitchen, toilet, bath—everywhere you use soap and water. Be sure you get pure Borax. Ask for

AMONG THE CLUBS

Outdoor Theatricals.

Under the auspices of the joint committee of Women's clubs a very pretty and delightful entertainment is being planned which will be given on the grounds of Pennsylvania College for Women on Friday evening, July 1. It will consist of a couple of plays, which will be presented on the campus with its sloping hillside where a year ago the seniors of the college gave "As You Like It." The summer playgrounds and vacation schools will be given the proceeds of the entertainment, which will be purely social in character. There will be excellent music and between the plays simple refreshments will be served. The first of the plays will be "The Happy Pair," a favorite with Miss Mary Anderson, who frequently used it for a curtain-raiser. The cast for this includes only Miss Vera Miles Smith and James Montague. Special interest is taken in this one-act play because Miss Smith, who is a daughter of Anthony W. Smith, Sr., of 5th Washington avenue, graduated a year ago from the Pennsylvania College for Women, and during the past year has devoted herself to the study of the stage, meeting with much success in the plays in which she has appeared under the direction of J. Stuart Bredock. The second play will be "An Old Vermont Farm." The cast for this has not yet been completed. Both plays will be presented under the direction of J. Stuart Bredock, and the natural beauty of the sloping college grounds will be the stage setting.

There will be patronesses who will be announced later, and the arrangements indicate a very enjoyable entertainment for the benefit of the summer playground and vacation school work this season.

Club Notes.

The last meeting of the joint committee of women's clubs will be held this morning at 10 o'clock in the Twentieth Century club house in Duquesne way, when the financial arrangements for opening the summer playgrounds and vacation schools will be announced. The committees in charge of the different playgrounds in Pittsburgh and Allegheny will also be announced.

At noon today a special meeting of the public baths committee, a sub-committee of the permanent civic committee, will be held in Miss Sweeney's rooms in Penn avenue and Fifth street, when reports on several sites for the Soho public bath house will be presented. The West Penn Nurses' Alumnae association will hold its annual boat excursion and outing this evening on the steamer Francis J. Torrance.

NO CHINESE WALL, IS SLOGAN AT HARRISBURG

Mass Meeting Called to Protest Against Granite Blocks Around Capitol.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, PA., June 22.—"No Chinese wall for capitol park," is the slogan of the three most important organizations of Harrisburg, the presidents of which have issued a joint call for a mass meeting, to be held Friday evening, to protest against the proposed granite wall around the capitol grounds.

The action of the board of public grounds and buildings in awarding a contract to George F. Payne & Co. of Philadelphia, contractors of the new capitol for a half million dollar fence under the repair item in the supplies schedule, has aroused much indignation and legal measures may be taken to get aside the contract.

The call for a mass meeting was issued today and is signed by Benjamin A. Need, president of the board of trade; Robert Snodgrass, president of the Municipal League of Public Improvement, and J. P. Gerauld, president of the Merchants' association.

The call states that the proposed "high stone wall around the capitol park" would mar the fine extension of the park and that a "majority" of the people view this proposition with the gravest disapproval. What has caused such criticism is the manner in which this proposed wall was scheduled in the "supplies for the state." It is not a thing there to indicate that there was to be a $500,000 stone wall to be built around the park and only one bidder for the contract.

Auditor General Snyder, a member of the board, says the contract was awarded before he became a member and that his understanding is that the wall will not interfere with any extension of the park. Ex-State Treasurer Harris of Clearfield, a member of the board at the time of the letting, said tonight that the plans can easily be changed to provide for park extension in the rear of the new capitol.

"I think a mistake was made in putting such an important matter in the schedule under the head of 'general repairs,'" added Mr. Harris. "A big contract of that kind should have been advertised and contractors given a chance to bid on the work, for it is a very important matter. It was a special contract and should have been advertised in the schedule for what it was, and should have been given out as special. General repairs covers it, but is not sufficiently specific."

STOCK MARKET WAS DULL, BUT PRICES WERE STRONG

Except in a Few Specialties the Fluctuations Were Very Narrow—Steel Preferred and Electric the Only Active Locals.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The total sales in the New York stock market yesterday were a trifle larger than the day before, but gauged by the extent of the fluctuations in the active list the market was one of the dullest for weeks. Wall street took absolutely no interest in the proceedings of the national Republican convention at Chicago, even the publication of the platform attracting no comment. Evidently, in the view of the street any disturbing factor which may appear in connection with the campaign will come from the St. Louis convention next month. This is the only explanation for the continuing apathy of the general public. The disbursement of something over $125,000,000 in interest and dividends is now only about two weeks off, and the stock market should naturally discount that event, but the only sign of the better market is the sustained demand for bonds and the strength of the better class of dividend-paying railroad stocks. For instance, the subscription books that were opened in New York and Boston yesterday for the Burlington 3½ per cent bonds, were closed within five minutes, the bonds having been over-subscribed, and it was reported that the $7,500,000 4½ per cent three-year notes of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific (the old company), which had been taken a few days ago by a syndicate, had all been resold to investment institutions and individuals.

Except for a few specialties, the range of prices throughout the day was narrow. Consolidated Gas was the most active of the industrials and scored the largest gain, advancing to 197, the highest price reached on this movement. Just before the close Sugar ran up 1½ per cent to 127⅛, making at the time the announcement of an advance in the price of the refined product. United States Steel issues were less active than on Tuesday, but the tone of the market was strong. The preferred advanced to 56⅛ and the sinking fund bonds to 75⅝, and both closed near the best. Colorado Fuel and Iron advanced a point to 31, and American Car and Foundry gained a fraction. The rest of the industrial list was extremely quiet.

Metropolitan Street Railway lost only a small fraction on the publication of earnings for the March quarter showing a decrease in net of $527,000, and it subsequently rallied to 111⅛, closing at 111. Manhattan rallied to 149 and Brooklyn Rapid Transit to 49⅝.

The largest advance in the railroad list was scored by such unimportant stock as Kansas City & Southern preferred, which rose to 43½. Canadian Pacific retained its previous strength and advanced to 123⅜. London and Montreal investors buying. The Pacific stocks were quiet, Southern Pacific ranging between 45⅞ @ 46¾, and Union Pacific between 87⅝@ 87⅝. The fluctuations in Atchison were even smaller, and ½@¾ per cent covered the range in St. Paul and Pennsylvania. Just before the close the market displayed considerable strength and there was a slight increase in business, closing prices being at or near the best of the day.

Call loans declined to 1 per cent and closed at 1@1½ per cent. While there is nothing in sight to indicate any change in monetary conditions, and bankers are free in saying that the present low rates for sterling bring out the lowest rates of the year, some comment is nevertheless made upon the action of two of the largest savings banks in New York and Brooklyn in raising the annual rate of interest paid depositors from 3½ to 4 per cent. It is stated that the Broadway Savings and the Union Dime Savings will not increase the rate for the current semi-annual period, paying at the rate of 3½ per cent per annum. The explanation for raising the rate in the cases mentioned is that the banks have been able to place their funds at higher rates on real estate mortgages, and that other forms of investment have been purchased which will return a higher yield than the average when the interest rate to depositors was reduced from 4 per cent. In Wall street, however, the action is variously construed as indicating a return early in the fall to normal rates on call and time loans, or that investment values have settled to a new basis where the return to the investor will be higher.

On the Pittsburgh stock exchange there were only two stocks in which there was any sign of life. These were Westinghouse Electric and United States Steel preferred. The former rallied to and closed at 73¼ on the announcement of the regular quarterly dividend. United States Steel preferred rallied to 56⅛, the final sale at 56 representing a net gain for the day of a dollar a share. A block of 50 shares Central District & Printing Telegraph sold at 119½ and that price was bid for more. A small lot of Pittsburgh Plate Glass changed hands at 113, a decline of 5 per cent from the last previous sale. There were no transactions in any of the coal stocks, but a small lot of Pittsburgh Coal dividend scrip sold at 101½. At the regular bank call there were but two small sales.

Too Many Banks.

The announcement that the Prudential Trust Company had made a voluntary assignment and would wind up its business had no effect upon the stock market. At the date of the last state and national bank calls there were 100 banks and trust companies reporting to the two departments from the city of Pittsburgh alone. For more than a year past the feeling has been growing that there are too many banking institutions in this city for the amount of business to be handled. Some of the newer ones were organized as a speculation, because two and three years ago bank and trust company stocks were the favorites with investors, and it was easier to sell these shares at a premium than to sell a government bond. In order to make a good showing and give a reason for existence, an active canvass was made for deposits, and the competition resulted in relatively high rates being paid on daily balances subject to check. When business was booming and everybody willing to work could obtain employment at high wages, and this condition was accompanied by an active demand for money, for both legitimate business and speculation, the numerous small banking institutions organized did fairly well. Deposits swam merrily in, and between June, 1902, and June, 1903, there was an increase of no less than $25,000,000 in the Pittsburgh banks and trust companies alone, the aggregate on the latter date footing up $286,000,000. Since then the loans and discounts increased $33,000,000 and investment securities increased nearly $27,000,000. Of course, there were many duplications in the deposit item, and each successive duplication often represented an increased rate of interest which the bank was willing to pay to get deposits. Undoubtedly in the $27,000,000 increased investment securities acquired during this short period there was some that are not readily marketable, and instead of being able to turn the money over frequently, these investments have had to be carried. At the present time, with industrial business depressed, with fewer men at work and with wages lower, the increase in deposits cannot be maintained. The banking business, like all other kinds, becomes less profitable. There is likely to be a movement towards a reduction in the number of banking institutions, either through voluntary liquidation, or through a merging of interests with other banks and trust companies. This will be a perfectly legitimate way for correcting the excesses of previous years.

FEATURES OF THE DAY.

IN PITTSBURGH.

Bank exchanges foot up $8,207,442, a decrease of $752,000.

Electric and Steel preferred the only active stocks on the Pittsburgh board.

Not a single transaction recorded in coal stocks all day.

A small lot of Pittsburgh Plate Glass sold at 113, a decline of 5 points.

Bank and trust company stocks were dull and slightly lower.

Regular dividends declared on Westinghouse Electric and Switch and Signal.

IN WALL STREET.

Stock market was dull, but prices closed at the best.

The sales amounted to only 203,400 shares stock and $2,485,000 bonds.

Steel preferred advanced to 56⅛ and the new bonds to 75⅝.

Amalgamated Copper quiet within a range of 50 and 50½.

Consolidated Gas rallied to 197 and Sugar to 127⅞ at the close.

Small fractions covered the range in standard railroad shares.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The local stock market was narrower than usual yesterday when not a single share of coal stocks changed hands. Monongahela River Coal common was offered at 8¾ and the preferred was unchanged at 21½ bid, 21⅜ asked. Pittsburg Coal common was quoted at 14⅜ bid, 15 asked, and the preferred at 57⅜ bid, 58 asked. A small lot of Pittsburgh Coal dividend scrip changed hands at 101½. There were also no transactions in Crucible Steel common or preferred or the Brewing shares, and the only natural gas stock traded in was Manufacturers Light & Heat. Less than 100 shares of the latter changed hands at 30½ to 30⅝. Westinghouse Electric sold to the extent of 415 shares at 78¾ and 78½, and 415 shares United States Steel preferred sold at 55⅝@56.

An official of one of the smaller suburban banks remarked yesterday: "The deposits of our little bank are larger today than at any time since its organization. I estimate that we have fully $150,000 more deposits than we are entitled to. That is to say, our depositors are carrying much larger balances than required by their business. The reason for this is a lack of confidence in investment securities. Just so soon as there is a restoration of confidence in the stock market a large amount of money now idle in bank will be invested. This will not happen suddenly, for while confidence is destroyed over night by an unexpected occurrence, it requires a long time to restore it completely. With the interest and dividend disbursements on July 1 there should be an improvement in the investment demand, and if nothing happens in the crops, this improvement will progress until by the end of the year we should see a much better market."

The North American Savings Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent, payable July 1 to stock of record June 25.

The regular semi-annual dividend of 1 per cent on Consolidated Traction common is payable July 1 to stock of record June 25.

The directors of the Union Switch and Signal Company this afternoon declared a quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent on the preferred stock, and 2 per cent on the common stock. The books will be closed from July 2 to July 11.

The directors of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent on the preferred and the assenting and non-assenting stocks of the company, payable July 11. Books close June 27 and open July 13.

Missouri Pacific directors yesterday declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 2½ per cent.

Wall street had a rumor yesterday that the dividend on American Car & Foundry would be passed next week.

The gross earnings of Northwest for May decreased $500,000. A bull on the stock predicts that the price will advance 50 points within the next two years.

Comment of a Wall street observer at close range: "Stock market movements during the afternoon showed that it is a creeping market. We believe it will continue so for some time to come, barring unexpected developments, of which there is now no sign. As is usually the case, the creeping does not continue long before the shorts get uneasy, when the rise becomes more rapid. The supply of stocks in the street is small and buyers have to bid up."

A New York dispatch says: "The Dime Savings bank and the Brooklyn Savings bank have decided to pay to depositors a dividend of 2 per cent for the present semi-annual period. This is an increase of one-quarter of one per cent over the previous payment last January. Announcement yesterday of dividends on two New York institutions of 4 per cent makes, including the Brooklyn banks, seven institutions in the city that have announced a dividend at the rate of 4 per cent annually. The Bowery Savings bank, which is the second largest in the city, also declared its dividend yesterday, but at the old rate of 3½ per cent."

In London yesterday Russian bonds advanced ½ per cent and Japanese bonds declined ½ per cent. While the past week the former have advanced 1⅜ and the latter have declined 1⅜ per cent.

In the course of a long article dealing with the cost of extending the Wabash system to Pittsburgh, the Wall Street Journal says:

It is possible to roughly list the actual cost of constructing the entire Pittsburgh extension. The list would show approximately the following results:

Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western	$10,000,000
Wheeling & Lake Erie (stock)	5,000,000
Terminals, etc.	2,500,000
Lines in Pittsburgh proper	12,500,000
Total	$30,000,000

Though the official estimate of the actual cost of all the work runs a little under this figure, being, in fact, $28,713,352, it is considered probable that the actual net cost before all is completed, will run rather above than below this total of $30,000,000.

The new securities which have been issued against these properties are as follows:

	Amount.	Charges.
First mortgage bonds	$25,000,000	$1,000,000
Second mortgage bonds	20,000,000	*890,000
Stock	10,000,000	.....
Total	$55,000,000	$1,890,000

*Payable if earned.

It thus appears that the only charge against these new properties each year for the next few years, at least, will be $1,000,000, this being the interest on the only outstanding security which does not admit of default with out foreclosure. The question, from the Gould standpoint, is as to whether or not this property can earn $1,000,000 in net per annum for the next few years. There appears not the slightest reason to doubt that it can do so. George J. Gould and President Ramsey are on record as saying that the property will easily pay its charges, and Mr. Ramsey has gone as far as to say that the interest on the second mortgage bonds will be paid within two years. The judgment of Mr. Ramsey is beyond question when the subject under discussion is one of railroad management, but it may well be considered an open question whether Mr. Ramsey's judgment on the possibilities of the steel producing mills of Pittsburgh is good enough to form a basis for investment.

LARGE ORDERS FOR STRUCTURAL

Several Million Dollars' Worth of Steel Will Be Needed Soon.

MUCH WILL BE MADE HERE

Several large orders for structural steel are to be awarded in the immediate future. These orders with the work they will give the furnaces and rolling mills explain the confidence which the manufacturers undoubtedly feel in the future.

On of these orders will be for about $1,000,000 worth of steel for the addition to the Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh. This order will go of course to the Carnegie Steel Company. It will be in course of filling very soon, it is said.

Another immense order will be for the structural steel to be used in the elevated track work and the warehouses which the Pennsylvania railroad will build along Duquesne way at the point. This order is likely to go to the Pennsylvania Steel Company. Still another order will be for the Wabash work on the South side, for which several companies are bidders. The announcement of the successful bidder will be made shortly. Four orders are soon to come out of Baltimore that are known to be ready for letting.

Come With a Rush.

In this week alone, there is not less than $5,000,000 worth of business. The amount may even reach $7,000,000. Many other sections of the country have big plans on hand.

The willingness of the iron and steel manufacturers to bide their time rather than to make efforts to sell at the present low prices can be understood. The prospects are that when business comes it will come with a rush. The belief in this is assuming such strength that there is a possibility of a change for the better in the very near future. The contemplation of the good prospects is itself a strong incentive to additional buying.

Just at present business is mainly marked by the absence of rain. About half of the merchant furnaces are out of blast and others will close shortly. There is some accumulation of stocks, but not enough to prove a factor of importance in delaying the resumption of furnaces and mills when a normal demand comes.

In the various finished lines conditions are about the same. The wire demand is very heavy with new records being made in production constantly. The tube business is excellent and the demand for sheets is fair. Other lines are not so active. The business is as a whole slow.

The coke situation is marked by the large number of ovens sealed. The producers prefer to await a more favorable market. That they will shortly have such a market they are confident.

The Hardware Market.

The hardware business continues to move along in very good shape, orders showing a very much better state of affairs than seemed to exist ten days or two weeks ago. This doubtless was due to better weather conditions and a feeling that business is here and has to be attended to. Dealers who have been holding off from buying are coming up with their orders and are placing orders freely, a very noticeable increase being seen both from traveling salesmen and from dealers direct.

Nails and wire continue to move out in much the same quantity as heretofore, a very good business continuing in this line. A very large business is being done in season goods, such as screen doors, refrigerators, wire cloth, fencing, etc., especially in this latter line assuming such strength that there is a possibility of a change for the better in the very near future. The contemplation of the good prospects is itself a strong incentive to additional buying.

Just at present business is mainly marked by the absence of rain. About half of the merchant furnaces are out of blast and others will close shortly. There is some accumulation of stocks, but not enough to prove a factor of importance in delaying the resumption of furnaces and mills when a normal demand comes.

FIRST STEP TOWARD BETTER CONDITIONS

Iron Age Sees Coming Improvement in Iron and Steel Trade of Country.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 22.—The Iron Age will say tomorrow:

From very influential quarters there have come reports widely quoted that there has been an improvement in the amount of orders, and that the tone of the trade is better. We know of any actual data upon which to base such a conclusion, although many in the trade are in a receptive mood for anything which will encourage them. Confidence is certainly there. Sifted down it comes to this, that the bond houses in Wall street are doing more and feel encouraged and this is regarded as the first step toward a better condition.

But it would be idle to claim that business has increased in the iron trade, or that the immediate outlook is perceptibly better. On the contrary, some branches which have been active with the spring business have been falling off and the independent mills, notably in the wire industry, are cutting to keep running fully. The tin plate mills are very busy, the leading interest having 92 to 96 per cent of the capacity at work. The sheet interest is less favorably placed, and concessions are being freely made. During the spring 6 per cent of the capacity of the consolidated work was operating. Now it has dropped back to 53 and 54 per cent. The negotiations with the Amalgamated association are in progress, but possess comparatively little interest for the trade.

Taking it all around, the pig iron markets are a little weaker. A moderate tonnage has been placed, interest centering more particularly on the bidding of one lot of 9,500 tons in the central west. Quite some good sized inquiries are in the market, but are heading up rather slowly. We cannot expect much relief from export sales of pig iron. It does not look as though the tonnage would amount to much unless our prices drop more rapidly than those of Middlesboro. We are still apart now, and even in the Mediterranean there is not much tonnage. Any large movement would also tend to put freights to a prohibitive figure.

Reports from the cast iron pipe trade, long a conspicuous exception in the chorus of the afflicted, have been rather unfavorable lately. Some good structural tonnage is coming out locally in the Pittsburgh district, a part having been already taken, but the amount of bridge work offering is very small. On building work only low lots are being made or inquired for. The billet, structural and plate pools are to meet in this city early next month, but no radical action is expected. The feeling is that the agreement has long since been broken, prices by agreement would have any stimulating effect on consumption.

GROCERIES ARE STEADY; NEW APRICOTS ARRIVE

Potato Slump Continues—Tropical Fruits Are Firm—Oats Bring Good Prices.

There were no changes in grocery quotations yesterday, though the coffee market continues firm along with sugar. Dried fruits are getting easier every day and from indications both Apricots and peaches will be entirely cleaned up before new goods arrive. Flour is in fair demand at the reductions of Tuesday.

New potatoes sold again yesterday at greatly reduced prices, as has long been the case, and a number of local dealers lost heavily by the sudden drop in prices, which came before counted on. Tomatoes are coming in freely, and so are cucumbers, and lower prices all around is the result. Beans are firmer and prices are advanced on green stock. New California apricots are now on the market in limited quantities. Peaches are coming in slowly. Bananas are firm and the supply of both oranges and lemons is about equal to the demand. Poultry is selling better. Butter is steady and the egg market continues firm, with chances for higher rather than lower prices.

Receipts of both hay and grain are light at present and business is quiet. It is now between seasons for hay and grain and matters will continue dull in this line until new crops commence to move; then prices will go down and this will stimulate trade. Five cars of No. 2 white oats brought 47 cents yesterday. No. 1 timothy hay is offering at $15 and nothing is selling much below that figure.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania lines, 23 cars hay, 7 cars oats, 2 cars straw, 1 car feed, 1 car corn and oats; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, 1 car hay, 1 car oats, 1 car corn; Baltimore & Ohio railroad, 2 cars hay.

Dealers charge an advance of 5c a bushel on grain and $5 00 a ton on hay and millfeed from warehouses in less than carload lots.

Railroads Are Depending on Passengers' Pay for Expenses

The operating departments of the railroads realize that the earnings of the lines depends largely upon the passenger receipts. The traffic movement has been compared with the last two years. The slackening of the steel and iron output has been felt, and until the fall crops are ready for the market there will be no decided improvement. So with the passenger department. The St. Louis fair is a big attraction and in itself will add largely to the passenger earnings. The eastern roads will benefit more than the western lines on account of the St. Louis show. Nearly all visitors from foreign countries pass through the eastern states and doing their booking before crossing the Atlantic, say the railroad men. The railroad officials are confident the passenger earnings will greatly exceed those made during the Chicago or Buffalo fairs, which means a record breaker for these departments.

Increase In Panhandle Earnings.

The retrenchment policy of the Panhandle system has shown its effect in the May report of the Panhandle railroad. Secretary S. B. Lizzett in his report for May and the five months ended with May 31, states that the decrease in estimated earnings, expenses and net earnings as compared with the same periods of 1903, are:

May.	Decrease.
Gross earnings	$777,205
Operating expenses	20,866
Net earnings	*$11,571
January 1 to May 31:—
Gross earnings	*$144,671
Operating expenses	*106,449
Net earnings	$340,520

*Increase.

Pittsburgh Conductor Honored.

E. B. Cassler of Pittsburgh, returned yesterday from Indianapolis where he attended the annual meeting of the Brotherhood of Conductors. He was honored by being elected chairman of the board of adjustment of the Pennsylvania lines west. The other officers were A. Irwin, vice chairman, of New Castle; V. L. Brown, secretary, of Columbus. It was decided to hold the next meeting in Columbus. The functions of the brotherhood are many and some of their duties must be handled with no little diplomacy.

Firemen's Examinations.

Beginning June 27 the Pennsylvania railroad firemen will begin to take examinations under the new book of rules. Those who have been in service less than one year will be examined Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week until all have taken the examination over the western system. Thursday, Friday and Saturday of each week will be devoted to the firemen who have been in the service longer than one year.

Automatic Signals for Lake Shore.

The Lake Shore has just placed an order for automatic block signals which will equip the road from Brocton to Erie. In the course of two years the management hopes to have the road protected the entire distance from Cleveland to Buffalo in this manner.

Railroad Notes.

The local railroads are doing an extensive business in picnics to the local resorts.

Charles Hamilton, traveling passenger agent of the Wabash, is touring eastern Pennsylvania.

J. J. Fuller of this city, traveling passenger agent of the Seaboard line, spent yesterday in Columbus.

J. M. Floesch, chief engineer of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh, is in the city on a business mission.

The Erie railroad has practically decided to abandon the plan to parallel the Big Four with a track between Cleveland and Galion.

GRAIN MARKET STANDS PAT ON YESTERDAY

Bullish Foreign Crop Reports Offset Bearish Advices. Bears Win for a Time.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 22.—Bullish foreign crop reports on the conditions of wheat were today offset by bearish advices regarding the domestic situation. As a result closing prices were practically identical with yesterday's final figures. Other staples are down a little; corn ⅛c, oats ⅛c, and provisions 10@20c.

At the start, sentiment in the wheat pit was about evenly divided. Initial quotations on July were unchanged to ⅛c lower at 84⅝@84¾c. September was unchanged to a shade higher at 79⅛@80c. The conflicting elements that entered into the early situation were the small receipts, strength of foreign grain markets and a bullish Russian crop report as opposed to excellent weather in the southwest and a bearish crop report from Iowa. For a time the bears gained the ascendancy and a quite general liquidation to sell was manifested, resulting in a slight decline. July easing off to 84⅛@84¼c and September to 79¼c. Then the sentiment in the pit suddenly changed and under the manipulation of a few local bulls there was a quick rally, this upturn finally advanced to 85½c and September to 80¾@80¼cc. The market again weakened on selling of September by northwestern houses, the distant delivery, declining to 79⅛@79⅝c. July showed considerable firmness, selling off only a trifle. Just before the close all the loss was regained on covering by shorts, final figures showing almost no change from yesterday's closing prices. July closed at a gain of ⅛c at 84⅝c. September was unchanged at 79¾c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 158,690 bushels. Primary receipts were 259,300 bushels, compared with 270,400 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 155 cars, against 163 cars last week, and 1au cars a year ago.

At the immediate start the corn market showed a little downward tendency under the influence of selling brought out by favorable weather and a bearish Iowa state report. After a slight decline the market became firmer on fair purchase by a leading bull. The July option was the chief object of attack at the last and was the most spirited and strongest on the recovery. The close was steady with July a shade higher, at 48⅝c, after ranging between 48¼c and 48¾c. September opened a shade to ⅛@¼c lower at 48@48¼c, sold between 48⅛c and 48¾c, and closed at 48⅜@48⅝c. Local receipts were 1⅛ cars, with 18 of contract grade.

Small receipts and a bullish Prussian crop report had a steadying effect on the oats market in the face of favorable weather conditions. The volume of trading was small and prices fluctuated within a narrow range. July closed unchanged at 39¼c. September opened unchanged to a shade higher at 32@32⅛c and sold between 31⅝@32¼c, closing at 32c. Local receipts were 56 cars.

Provisions were weak under general liquidation, outside packers leading in the selling. The market lacked any decided support and closed near the low point with September pork down 20c at $13 10. September lard was off 12½c at $7 12½. Ribs were down 10@12½c at $7 62½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 21 cars; corn, 24 cars; oats, 95 cars; hogs, 31,000 head.

MR. SCHWAB'S ESTIMATE OF ORE MINES CORRECT

Investigation Shows United States Steel Corporation Owns 750,000,000 Tons.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 22.—An investigation the United States Steel Corporation has been conducting as to the amount of iron ore owned by the corporation, is stated to show the quantity as about 750,000,000 tons. This particularly confirms the estimate of former President Charles M. Schwab, at the time of the preferred stock conversion suit. He figured that the Steel Corporation had in its mines about 700,000,000 tons of ore, the value of which he put at $1 a ton. Since Mr. Schwab made his estimate, the corporation has acquired the ore lands of the Union Steel Company, estimated at 40,000,000 tons, and the Clairton Steel Company's ore lands, estimated at Elgin A. Hill Buys Fine Manufacturing Site in Wilkinsburg.

TUNNEL STREET HOUSE SOLD

One of the best siding properties on the Pennsylvania railroad around this city was sold yesterday through the offices of J. H. Garlen for $25,000. It belonged to James M. Giles and was purchased by Elgin A. Hill. The property measures 340x130 feet, and fronts on the south side of Hill avenue, near West street, Pfarr ward, Wilkinsburg. The frame buildings on the lot are now occupied by Daniel Whitmore & Company's lumber yard, and the Jordon & Stenson feed store. Last year Mr. Hill purchased the Bonebrake property adjoining for $15,000, and this deal gives him a frontage of 420 feet on the railroad, with a depth of 130 feet. He and his brother, John C. Hill, now own the entire square, except 50 feet at Hill avenue and West street. A switch runs into the property making it very desirable for manufacturing purposes. Mr. Hill is the president of the Pressed Steel Car and Wire Company of Carnegie, and it is rumored that the property was bought as a site for that concern, as its Carnegie plant is built on leased ground.

Mellott. It is a vacant lot, 75x130 feet on the east side of Hastings avenue, near Edgerton avenue, Twenty-second ward.

The residence of John A. Irwin of the Colonial Trust Company has been sold to Mrs. Gray, daughter of Dr. J. Guy McCandless, for $10,000. The house is a 10-room residence in Home avenue, Avalon, which was sold last week for $18,500. Mr. Snodgrass will occupy the property as a home.

Samuel W. Black & Co. have leased for the R. P. Jones estate to George A. Simpson the store room at 910 Liberty avenue for a term of years. Mr. Simpson gets possession at once and will remodel the room for a retail stove and range business.

Steady sales of lots are being made in the Fair Place plan in the West Liberty district, which was opened last Saturday. A total of 205 of the 917 lots in the plan had been sold up to yesterday noon. New Hospital Is Occupied.

The Allegheny General Hospital association is now occupying a part of its new building in Sandusky street. For several days past the moving has been in progress and yesterday the office of the institution was transferred to the new building. The main offices are on the ground floor, or what, according to the peculiar architecture of the building, is practically the basement floor. The reception rooms will be on the second floor, at the head of the main entrance.

Not Lost With Gen. Slocum.

Mrs. Lizzie Meininger and her daughter Mrs. George B. Smith, who were reported to have been lost in the Gen. Slocum disaster arrived at their home 42 Hamilton street, Allegheny yesterday. They were in Boston at the time the excursion boat burned, and attribute the story of their supposed deaths to a confusion of names.

DISCOURAGED

The expression occurs so many times in letters from sick women to Dr. Pierce; "I was completely discouraged." And there is always good reason for the discouragement. Years of suffering. Doctor after doctor tried in vain. Medicines doing no lasting good. It is no wonder that the woman feels discouraged.

Thousands of these weak and sick women have found health and courage regained as the result of the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"In the year 1899 I was taken sick," writes Mrs. Edna Crowder, of Ripley, Lauderdale Co., Tenn. "My limbs ached, had severe pains in back and lower part of bowels, with difficulty in urination, and smarting and burning pain after. I tried many kinds of medicine and four of the best doctors in the country, until I gave up all hope of recovery. In January, 1901, I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and received from him a letter, telling me to try his medicines. I took eleven bottles, six of 'Favorite Prescription,' five of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' one vial of 'Pellets,' and used one box of 'Lotion Tablets' and one of 'Healing Suppositories,' and am now able to work at anything I want to. I took eleven for your valuable medicine and kind advice."

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. R. V. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
